HOOVER, SMITH IN LAST VOTE DRIVES

EVEN CHANCE FOR SMITH IN EASTERN U.S.

Vote of Group of States
Likely to Go Heavily for Either Candidate
CITY VERSUS COUNTRY
"Silent Vote" Expected to Be Largely for Hoover—
May Bring Surprise

(This is the fourth of a series of six dispatches presenting the results of a personal survey of David Lawrence of 20 states and comparison of public sentiment therein this year as with other investigations he has made every two years for the last 16 years. The final forecast on electoral votes will be given tomorrow and the concluding dispatch will cover the congressional outlook.)

Washington — East of the Alleghenies and along the Atlantic seaboard from Maine to North Carolina is a section of the United States which has rarely given the Democratic party many electoral votes. Yet this year the hopes of Governor Smith are based on a substantial electoral vote in the east.

In a sense of understanding of conditions in the eastern region is an index to the whole election. For the very circumstances that make New York and Massachusetts doubtful this time are sufficient to furnish surprises in all the neighboring states. In other words, political strength frequently runs in tides.

There is really no sound reason why Governor Smith should not be counted as having an even chance to win New York and Massachusetts and yet Herbert Hoover should be the favorite in New Jersey. Another way of saying it is that if Hoover is strong enough to retain New Jersey, with its overwhelming Republican vote in the last two presidential elections, he is powerful enough to wrest New York and the Bay state from Governor Smith.

LIKE CONDITIONS

Also it is reasonable to believe that as goes New York and Massachusetts, so will Rhode Island and Connecticut go and possibly New Hampshire. These states are somewhat alike in their political composition, yet the similarity stops at the Massachusetts line and does not affect Maine or Vermont.

The common denominator of these eastern states is big city populations with heavy proportions of foreign-born and wets. The presence of a militant sentiment for Smith in the cities can not be denied. It has revealed itself time and again. It has led to the belief that this election is in large part a contest between city and country. The cities, however, in presidential years have not been as Democratic as they have been in state elections. The economic argument and the traditional feeling against change of party has held them in the Republican column. Yet the registration has shown an enormous increase and the reception given Governor Smith have been unexcelled by those given any public man since Roosevelt's day.

Does it mean an overwhelming Smith vote? The efforts to ascertain the character of the great "silent vote," the vote that has made no noise and yet will decide the issue, have been numerous. The Republicans have confidently assumed that the silent vote is theirs and that the women especially, having registered as never before, were Hoover adherents. This can not be accepted flatly, however, for there is abundant evidence that Catholic women who never registered or voted before have come out by the thousands to express their protest against the idea that their sons are ineligible for the presidency.

MANY PARTISANS

The existence of a large number of Catholic partisans who feel sensitive about the religious issue is conceded and the difficult question for the observer to answer is whether this is the silent vote or whether it is the vote of women who are out of sympathy with Governor Smith's prohibition views.

AIR POLICE ADDED TO SHERIFF'S FORCE IN MILWAUKEE - CO

Milwaukee — (AP) — The sheriff's office of Milwaukee- Co is keeping one step ahead of bandits. It added policemen of the air to its staff of law enforcers Thursday.

Four pilots comprise the new force. They will use Ryan planes of the type used by Lindbergh in his historic flight to France, which will be plainly marked "Sheriff's Department Air Patrol." The air policemen are J. H. Knaup, Cal Zimmerman, Edward M. Knaup and Elmer H. Leigh.

Airplanes, the sheriff believes, can be used to advantage in tracking criminals along highways. They also will be available to direct traffic in the air, in running down pilots who violate the airplane regulations, and to protect the air mail should a ship come to grief in this country.

G. O. P. Publicity-Director Accuses Raskob of Manufacturing Evidence

Washington — (AP) — Asserting that the Tammany campaign in its closing hours has sunk from the sidewall to the sewers of New York, Henry J. Allen, director of Republican publicity, has accused Chairman John J. Raskob, and the Democratic national committee of "manufacturing evidence" to support the charge that attacks upon Governor Alfred E. Smith because of his religion may be traced to Republican campaign officials.

In a statement issued for publication Friday, Allen denounced as a suspected "frame-up" the set of documents made public by Raskob as part of an open letter to Chairman John J. Raskob, and the Democratic national committee, which the Democratic leader declared proved that his claims were true.

Moreover, Allen charged Raskob with an obvious effort to make the widest use of bigotry in his own campaign while denouncing its pretended innocence in the Republican campaign. He declared too, that Raskob had given tacit approval to attacks on Herbert Hoover because of his Quaker faith.

Referring to the documents made public by Raskob, Allen said that all the affidavits they contained were made upon the same day and that one man had denied making an affidavit which Raskob had attributed to him. These considerations, Allen said, arouse "the suspicion that the whole case is a 'frame-up.'" He characterized as "a mere mask to hide his own mud-guns" Raskob's early appeal for a clean campaign.

JAIL STARTS TO BURN, HOBOES CALL FIREMEN

Prairie du Chien — (AP) — Four hoboes in the city jail rendered this community a service Thursday night. Noticing that the concrete floor of their cell was becoming overheated and that the room was filling with smoke, they broke a window and attracted the volunteer fire department with their yell. The department soon put out the blaze.

ADmits SETTING FIRE TO MADISON CHURCHES

Columbus, O. — (AP) — Said to have confessed to setting fire to two churches in Madison, Wis., and a barn near Indianapolis, Charles Sawyer, 48, Columbus, Friday was held by police in connection with two recent fires at the First Congregational church here. The blazes in Madison occurred about a year ago.

$2,300,000 Building Bill In Offing, Alderman Says

With frequent playful pokes in the ribs the common council, of which he has been a member for a long time, Alderman Charles D. Thompson of the Second ward told about 15 men and women at the first chamber of commerce Forum Thursday night at the Conway hotel that the city is up against in the next few years so that citizens generally and with expenditures for improvements in particular might be a better view of the city's business and possibly offer some suggestions that the mayor will call for another half million; and Alderman Thompson said a "no" to the city must eventually come to which raises the ante of probable city expenditures close to two and a half millions.

Mr. Thompson, it was explained by Gustave Koller, chairman of the Forum, was asked to tell what the city is up against in the next few years so that citizens generally and with expenditures for improvements in particular might be a better view of the city's business and possibly offer some suggestions that the mayor will call for another half million; and Alderman Thompson said a "no" to the city must eventually come to which raises the ante of probable city expenditures close to two and a half millions.

Slayer Of Obregon In Court Today

1,000 Persons Ask Admis- sion to Room With Maxi- mum Capacity of 150

Mexico City — (AP) — Radio apparatus was installed Friday in the courtroom for broadcasting of the trial of Jose de Leon toral and nun Mother Concepcion in connection with the assassination of President-elect Alvaro Obregon last July. Toral is the assassin, and the nun is accused of being an accomplice. The trial is unusual in that generally the assassins of persons high in politics are tried by military rather than civil courts.

A thousand persons asked to be admitted to Friday's proceedings at the courthouse of San Angel, not far from where the slaying took place. The courtroom seats one hundred; fifty more can wedge their way in. Admission was by ticket only. Tickets were issued by the presiding judge.

Thirty names were drawn from a list of one hundred talemens, nine jurors from these to try the youthful cartoonist. Above the Judge's bench and facing the space set aside for the defendants was a picture of Obregon.

"I am ready for anything," Toral said.

Mother Concepcion asked the prosecuting attorney to do his utmost to have her sentenced to prison because this would enable her to devote herself to spiritual work among the women convicts in the penitentiary. The maximum penalty in her case is 20 years. In Toral's case it is death.

HOOVER ATTACKED BY SENATOR REED

Fiery Missourian Calls Republican Candidate "Political Chameleon"

Milwaukee — (AP) — Senator James A. Reed of Missouri, denounced Herbert Hoover as a "political chameleon" and a "British liberal" Thursday night in his second speech in Wisconsin on behalf of Gov. Alfred E. Smith. The Missouri Democrat touched only on "tolerance" in the campaign, on the tariff and prohibition.

"This is the most peculiar campaign of our history," the senator said. "It is the first time the Republican party hasn't had a Republican to run as the candid for its party."

With that sentence before him, the fiery Missourian tore into Hoover and the Republican party.

"The gentleman running on the Republican ticket was named at Kansas City, but it takes more than the votes of a few delegates to change the whole case is a 'frame-up.'" He characterized as "a mere mask to hide his own mud-guns" Raskob's early appeal for a clean campaign.

BOMB HOME OF WORKER WHO QUIT LABOR UNION

Milwaukee — (AP) — A dynamite bomb Friday night shattered windows in a wide area of St. Francis, endangering the lives of five persons, and partially wrecked the home of George Czajkowski, employee of the Phoenix Hosiery company.

The rear end of the two-story building was blown away while the father and four children were sitting in a room directly above the target of the bombers. Plaster on the entire first floor was wrecked and all windows shattered. Residents for blocks around heard the detonation. Czajkowski said he had recently resigned from the union.

FLORIST ASSOCIATION NAMES NEW OFFICERS

Milwaukee — (AP) — Officers of the Wisconsin and Upper Michigan Florist association, meeting here, elected officers for the coming year preceding a dinner dance Thursday night. They are: H. J. Benz, Racine, president; J. H. Dale, Hancock, Mich., vice president; H. H. Smith, Milwaukee, secretary, and E. Oestricher, Racine, treasurer.

AL WELCOMED BY THOUSANDS IN HOME CITY

New York Greets Happy Warrior as He Enters Final Days of Campaign

New York — (AP) — Home from his campaign wars to await the verdict of the voters, Governor Alfred E. Smith rode Friday over the parade route that the metropolis reserves for returning heroes.

The home town of Democracy's standard-bearer gave one of those uporous greetings that it bestows on Lindbergh, Byrd and Ederle. From the Battery to Central park the governor traveled between cheering, roaring throngs.

Ticker tape, tossed from the high buildings, zigzagged upon the slowly moving motors. Tons of torn paper fluttered streetward until sidewalks and pavement were covered.

Long before the parade had left the Battery standing room on the curbs along the route was unobtainable. The crowd overflowed into the park at Madison square, while the steps of the public library at Forty-second and Fifth-ave were filled. A drizzling rain didn't seem to matter.

STARTS AT NOON

When the governor arrived at the Battery, just before noon, skippers of harbor craft tied down the whistles of their boats. Mr. Smith and those who were to ride with him stepped into his car at two minutes past the noon hour, and the parade was under way.

It was just another parade for Smith, who has waved his brown derby in long automobile processions through a dozen other large cities of the country, but it was very apparent when he was apprised of the plan that he welcomed the opportunity to show the home folks how he maneuvered the "truster." As he calls it, in acknowledging the cheers he received in the west and other regions.

SPEAKS TONIGHT

Friday night, in the Academy of Music in Brooklyn, he will go on the air at 10 o'clock for another hour's campaign speech and on the platform with him will be Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democratic candidate for governor of New York, at 7 o'clock over NEAF, WSR and WGY.

BURNED WOMAN DIES-- CASE STILL MYSTERY

Lake Bluff, Ill. — (AP) — Miss Elvilda Knaak, the bookagent-psychology student whose story of self-torture in the furnace room of a police station had baffled investigators for two days, died at 4 o'clock Friday morning of burns received as she tried to prove her faith in a "spirit love."

With her death, officers said, was locked the story of what actually happened during those hours before the Tuesday dawn when Miss Knaak, after sitting alone all night near the furnace, badly burned.

The two men, long personal and political associates, will cooperate in a twin assault on the Republican strongholds in New York. State issues will be the main subjects of the argument and opposition leaders and candidates for various state offices are expected to come in for lashing.

BOMB HOME OF WORKER

Ithaca, N. Y. — (AP) — Charged with slaying his 14-year-old son in St. Louis a year ago in order to collect $4,500 life insurance, Michael Meek, 55, a farmer living near Bryden, Mo., was arrested Friday on a warrant charging murder and held for Missouri authorities.

Even should evidence develop pointing to some second party as having a hand in the tragedy, officers said the young woman's story that she alone had inflicted the burns as self-torture to prove her faith in a "spirit-love" would almost certainly prove a bar to successful prosecution.

Emotion Still Is Ruling Current In Public Mind

BY BYRON PRICE
Associated Press Staff Writer

The presidential campaign is ending, as it began, with mighty currents of emotion at war beneath the troubled surface.

To many millions of Americans, Tuesday's election has become vastly more than a choice of men and parties.

The stormy spirit of the times has found expression in a stirring of racial and religious groups, a confusion of class impulses, turmoil in party organizations, and a return of the old-time fervor of the political crusader.

Tossed on these swift-running currents, political issues are in strange disarray in these closing days of the campaign. Weeks of debate have produced no agreement as to the paramount considerations that are to be resolved by the voter. Each side denies that the other has defied its position clearly, and each denies the existence of issues thrust forward by the other. Farm relief, prohibition and all of the others are jumbled together in a tangle of argument.

NATIONAL INTERESTS

One thing, however, is fully apparent. This has been a campaign of national self-examination. Not for many years have the parties gone to the country talking so little of foreign affairs and so much of home affairs. Intrusion has turned the light of public discussion on such domestic questions as prohibition, agriculture, immigration, waterpower, and general business stability.

In a literal sense, it has been a time of national soul-searching. Considering the interplay of the issues with the concurrent awakening of class and

RUSSIAN REFUGEES HONOR MEMORY OF LAST AMBASSADOR

Pay Homage to Last Man to Represent Their Country
in U. S. Under Czar

Washington. (P)—Many refugees of the regime of the last czar of all the Russians are finding new home and happiness in Washington. Ten years have passed since the shadows began to slip around them, and they are looking forward now instead of backward.

Frequently they will congregate, and the result is a colorful old world picture. Such was a memorial service in the little Russian Orthodox Greek Catholic church here for M. Bakhmeteff, the last ambassador to this country of the Imperial Russian government.

In reality the church is an old residence and the congregation numbers but 100. But the tradition of the faith is kept alive with a brave showing of green and gold, with flashes of crimson before the altar and in striking religious pictures in gold frames.

Everyone, including visitors, was given a slender yellow waxen taper. The priest Father Vlachislav Gindlin, lighted two of the candles held by little children. They in turn passed the light along, and the shadowed room became alive with the steady flame of the many, burning candles.

There were in the little church Prince Alexander Baratinsky, a grandson of the czar; Mme. Natalie Rimsky-Korsakoff, widow of a Russian admiral and no relation to the celebrated composer, and Capt. I. Moustov, former captain of the Russian navy and later a naval attaché to M. Bakhmeteff.

They listened sadly to the solemn chanting for a day and a dynasty gone forever. But later, when the chanting ceased and the candles had become merely pieces of charred wax instead of symbols, they became animated and hopeful over their new life in the new country.

Prince Baratinsky has just married Lola Blanche, a dancer. The religious ceremony will be in a member. They are ideally happy, he said.

It was apparent that the thoughts of Mme. Rimsky-Korsakoff had been of the unhappy past.—Her pale face, under the white head dress of the Church Sisters, was sad and drawn as she devoutly crossed herself and finally knelt so low before the altar that her forehead touched the floor. But afterward when she had joined the friendly group around the door, she said: "My daughter has lived here many years. I like it here."

Her daughter is the wife of Capt. Moustov.

Father Gindlin conducted the American visitors to the door. "Do not forget us," he said. "Come again."

ANGLICAN HEAD WILL RETIRE TO CHELSEA

London. (P)—The Archbishop of Canterbury will move from the somber dignity of Lambeth Palace to the safety of Chelsea, London's bohemian when he retires in November.

Dr. and Mrs. Davidson have taken No. 10 Cheyne Walk, where Lloyd George formerly lived and a stone's throw from the old haunts of Caruso, Whistler, Abbey, Sargent, George Eliot and others famous in British literatur and artisto history.

Before moving to Chelsea, Dr. and Mrs. Davidson plan to go to Scotland to celebrate their golden wedding anniversary. They will have been married fifty years in November. The anniversary coincides with the date of Dr. Davidson's retirement.

The Chelsea house has been entirely altered, with the exception of the many bookcases, since Lloyd George occupied it. A new system of lighting has been installed and the walls done over in orange to give the illusion of sunlight when the winter mists obscure His Grace's view of the river Thames just across the street.

The primate's man servant, who was recently placed in retirement after many years service, pined for his master until relatives implored His Grace to take him back into active service. This request has been granted and Giles will once more serve Dr. Davidson in his new Chelsea home.

Indoor polo, the players riding international ponies from famous grounds, is a sport in London this season.

THE TRUTH ABOUT BRAN AND CONSTIPATION

Thousands of people eat bran regularly for the healthful roughage it provides. It is a splendid practice. But be sure you are really getting all the roughage you need when you eat bran. Doctors say it takes 100% bran to relieve constipation. Part-bran products, at best, can only accomplish part-way results. That is why they fail!

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is 100% bran. It furnishes roughage in effective quantities—and in the most effective form: cooked and crumbled. Just two tablespoonsfuls daily—chronic cases, with every meal—are guaranteed to relieve constipation.

You'll like the flavor and crispness of ALL-BRAN. Serve with milk or cream. Delicious with fruits or honey added. Mix with other cereals. Sprinkle into soups. Use in cooking. Sold by all grocers. Served everywhere. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

RECIPE . . . Gold Medal Angel Food Cake

1½ cups egg whites, 1 tsp. cream of tartar, 1½ cups granulated sugar, 1½ cups all-purpose flour, GOLD MEDAL "KITCHEN-TESTED" FLOUR, 1 tsp. salt.

METHOD

1. Beat egg whites with a fat whip. Add cream of tartar when whites are frothy.

2. Continue beating until a point of the egg whites will stand upright.

3. Gradually beat in 1 cup of sugar which has been sifted twice.

4. Fold in flour once. Sift flour once more.

5. Fold in flour again. Sift flour once more.

6. Fold in flour once more.

7. Fold in flour which has been sifted 3 times with salt and remaining ½ cup sugar.

8. Pour into dry, ungreased cake pan and bake. Invert until cake is entirely cold before removing from pan.

TIME: Bake 1 hour.

TEMPERATURE: Very slow oven, gradually increasing heat from 350° F. to 380° F. moderate oven.

SIZE OF PAN: Tube center 10 inches in diameter.

That's because surplus air and moisture are removed from this new form of soap

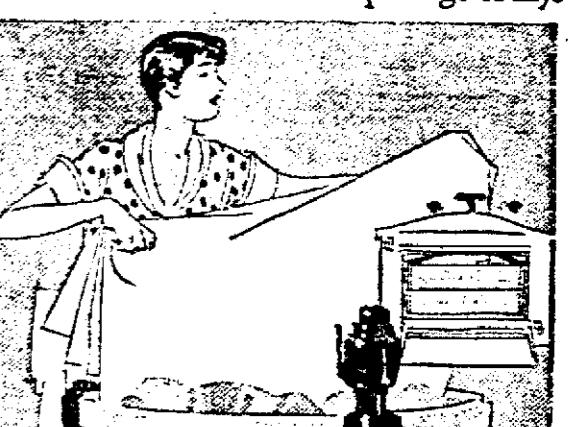

HERE is a new soap product by the makers of Palmolive Toilet Soap. Kwiksolv is household soap in condensed form. 57% of the air has been removed, 20% of the moisture.

Thus an economy principle long used in foods is now applied in a new field. Savings equally important result. For Kwiksolv, we guarantee, will go farther and wash faster than any soap you've ever used.

We've included a unique water-softening agent in this new-type soap. This water-softener greatly hastens its cleansing action. Try Kwiksolv on the most badly stained clothes, on the soil-line of cuffs and collars. It will cleanse these with new speed and thoroughness . . . practically without rubbing. Yet because it's

Condensed soap saves. Watch how long Kwiksolv lasts. Probably never have you bought so much for 25c

ROBINSON TURNS TO LAST STATE IN TOUR

BY RAYMOND Z. HENKE
Associated Press Staff Writer
Enroute With Senator Robinson to Dayton, O. (AP)—Completely satisfied with the results of a five speech tour of Indiana, Senator Joe T. Robinson Friday checked off the last state but one of his coast to coast campaign when he entered Ohio for speeches in Lima and Dayton. The Democratic vice presidential nominee closed his campaign in Indiana Thursday night in Fort Wayne.

The senator shared the views of a number of Democratic leaders who traveled with him during the Indiana tour that the state should be placed in the doubtful column. The party workers told him that Frank C. Dailey was making a strong race as Democratic nominee for governor on a platform calling for a house cleaning of state politics, and that his strength might have some effect on the Democratic national ticket.

MANUFACTURING PLANT MAY PURCHASE AIRPLANE

A Fox river valley manufacturing company soon will have an airplane for officials who wish to travel between the local office and mills in other cities, it was indicated by the visit Friday of a huge three motored Ford plane at the local airport. The plane was brought here from the factory at Detroit, stopping at Chicago Thursday.

The plane is here for demonstration purposes, and flights made will be only for persons interested in the purchase of the ship. The cabin, which will carry 12 passengers, is as modern as a Pullman coach. The plane stand 12 feet high and has a wing spread of 79 feet.

The Ford company now is turning out three of the huge ships weekly according to representatives of the company who have been making their headquarters at the August Brandt company, local Ford dealers, while awaiting arrival of the plane. Several weeks ago one of the planes landed at Whiting airport with a party of eight hunters from Chicago.

CHARGE MAN DIDN'T SUPPORT HIS FAMILY

Charles Gewelinger, Chicago, was arraigned in municipal court before Judge Theodore Berg Friday morning on a charge of non-support and preliminary hearing set for Nov. 9. He was unable to furnish $500 bonds and is being held in the county jail. Gewelinger was arrested by police in Chicago and was brought to Appleton Thursday by Deputy Sheriff Walter Scherck. The complaint against him was made by his wife, Esther Appleton, who charges he failed to support her and their three minor children.

REMODELING WORK ON BUILDING IS STARTED

Remodeling work is to be started Monday morning on the Universal store building at 508 W. College-ave., according to Oscar Bolot, proprietor. The first floor is to be lowered three feet to the street level and a new copper front installed. The store is to extend to the W. Washington-st ally in the rear, according to Mr. Bolot.

14 RESERVE OFFICERS TAKING STUDY COURSE

About 14 reserve officers now are taking the group study course for reserve officers. Classes are held weekly at Armory G with Captain James K. Campbell of the regular army, as instructor. The officers are from Appleton, Neenah-Menasha, Clintonville, and Marion. The subject of discussion is organization of the army, with particular emphasis on general staff organization.

WORKMAN HURTS ARMS AT PAPER COMPANY

Arnold Rogers, 21, route 2 Appleton, was injured early Friday morning when he caught both arms between two heavy rollers at the Fox River Paper company. He was taken to St. Elizabeth hospital, where examination revealed that no bones were broken, but both arms had severe flesh wounds. He suffered a 7-inch cut on the right arm, and the flesh on the left arm was badly crushed.

AVENUE FRUIT STORE IS BOUGHT BY NESBORG

The fruit store on W. College-ave., west of the Appleton State bank, which was formerly owned and operated by Louis Blinder, has been purchased by Paul Nesborg, who will continue in the fruit business. In addition to handling vegetables and fruits he will sell gasoline and motor oil.

KAUKAUNA DRUNK IS SENTENCED TO JAIL

John Baker, Kaukauna, was sentenced to the county jail for five days by Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court Friday morning when he pleaded guilty of drunkenness. He was arrested on Wisconsin Avenue in Kaukauna Thursday by Officer James McCaffrey.

SEES WAGNER'S OPERA AND THEN KILLS SELF

New York (AP)—After viewing a presentation of Wagner's opera "Tannhauser" at the Metropolitan, Noel Morris, 24, great grandson of Commodore William H. Vanderbilt, shot and killed himself at his parents' home in E. Seventieth-st. A typewritten note, tucked between the leaves of a diary, gave the only clue to the suicide move. It read: "Tannhauser wasn't brave enough to stick it out, but I have the courage to do it. This is the last entry." The body was discovered Thursday by a locksmith called to remove the lock on the door of his apartment after his absence had aroused the fears of his family.

Forty thousand tons of limestone were blown up in a single blast at Llyswen, Wales, quarry, recently.

Deaths

Mrs. FRANCES BESCH

Funeral services for Mrs. Frances Besch were held at 8:30 Friday morning at the home at 825 W. Fourth-st, and at 9 o'clock at St. Joseph church. Burial was in St. Joseph cemetery. Bearers were John Heckel, Jr., Harold Heckel, Alfred Gosh, Herbert and Arthur Schwandt and John Loesel.

Out-of-town people at the funeral were Mrs. W. J. Gillette and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Krause and Mrs. John O'Brien, Fond du Lac; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Appleton, Mr. and Mrs. George Appleton, and Henry Appleton, Freedom; and August Schwandt and family of Oshkosh.

ANITA HENKE

Anita Henke, 7-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Henke, Stephensville, died at 8 o'clock Thursday evening at the home of her parents. Survivors are the parents; one sister, Hazel; and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Hermann Knorr, St. Shiocton. Funeral services will be held at 1:30 Saturday afternoon at the Henke home, with the Rev. E. Redlin, Ellington, in charge. Burial will be in Riverside cemetery, Appleton.

MRS. CHARLES KROLL

Mrs. Charles Kroll, 50, died at 10:10 Friday morning at her home on Black-st. Kaukauna, after an illness of about two months. She is survived by the widow; two sons, Alfred Grenier, Milwaukee, and George Grenier, Fond du Lac; three daughters, Mrs. William Knott, Fond du Lac, Mrs. Charles Sutherland, Fond du Lac, and Mrs. Louis Meander, Royal Oak, Mich.; and one brother, Alfred Lavoie, Rhinelander.

EARL HILDEBRANDT

Earl Hildebrandt, 27, assistant foreman of the Western Union telegraph line crew which has been working along the main line of the Chicago and Northwestern railroad, died here at 12:30 Friday morning after a brief illness.

Hildebrandt came here with several telegraph men from Lapez, Ind., Tuesday morning he was taken ill while at work near the Chicago and Northwestern passenger depot on N. Appleton-st., and death resulted Friday morning from pneumonia and spinal meningitis.

The body is to be taken to Lapez Friday for burial. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus D. Hildebrandt arrived here Thursday evening.

MRS. LAURA WACHLIN

Mrs. Laura Wachlin, 69, died Friday morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. B. E. Mayerhoff, 1108 W. Prospectave, after an illness of six months. In July Mrs. Wachlin underwent an operation from which she never recovered.

Mrs. Wachlin came to the United States with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. August Neumann, from Marienburg, West Preusen, Germany, at the age of 12, and settled in Chicago. She married Henry Wachlin, and in 1877 they moved to Appleton.

Survivors are four daughters, Mrs. Henry Harp, Milwaukee; Mrs. B. E. Mayerhoff, Mrs. Benjamin J. Pekarik, and Mrs. Andrew D. Smith, all of Appleton; two sons, Emil Wachlin, Appleton, and Arthur Wachlin of Black Creek; fourteen grandchildren and three great grandchildren; three sisters, Mrs. Carl Schultz, Chicago; Mrs. George Wolf and Mrs. Henry Bush, Appleton; three brothers, Fred Neumann, Chicago; August of Appleton, and Emil of Milwaukee.

Funeral services will be held at 1:30 Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Mayerhoff, and at 2 o'clock at St. Paul's Lutheran church with the Rev. F. M. Brandt in charge.

CHARGE LOCAL MAN WAS DRUNK DRIVER

Henry Santkuyl Is Arrested
Following Accident on W.
College-ave

Henry Santkuyl, 40, 120 N. Badger-ave, pleaded not guilty in municipal court Friday morning of a charge of drunken driving and Judge Theodore Berg set Nov. 13 as the date for the preliminary hearing of the case. Santkuyl furnished $100 bonds.

He was arrested about 10:50 Thursday night after the car he was driving crashed into one parked machine on W. College-ave and shoved it into another machine which was parked alongside. The car which Santkuyl was driving is owned by Glenn Kaufman, 117 S. State-st.

Santkuyl was driving west on College-ave and when he reached the front of the Unneeds Damp Wash Laundry company, 518 W. College-ave, his car swerved toward the curb and crashed into a machine owned by Ray Treiber, 808 S. Madison-st, which was parked at the curb. Treiber's car was struck with such force it bounded to one side and struck a second parked machine owned by J. F. DeBauer, route 6, Appleton.

enders on Treiber's and DeBauer's cars were damaged and the side of Kaufman's car was damaged. Officers Carl Radtke and Frank Johnson arrested Santkuyl.

U. S. BUSINESS MEN AID MEXICAN ROAD BUILDING

Agua Prieta, Mexico—(P)—Business men of this city and the highway commissioners of Cochise county, Ariz., have cooperated in beginning construction of a road from Agua Prieta through San Jose to Cananea, the first stretch of improved highway in this section. Business men of Douglas, Ariz., also have helped, believing the road will lead traffic and commerce to that city.

The Cochise county highway department lent road building equipment and tools and donated the services of the county engineer. About 35 Mexican soldiers supplied labor for the project, while the business men have collected nearly all the $25,000 necessary to pay the cost of the 46-mile stretch.

CUBANS ARE EXCITED OVER U. S. ELECTION

Havana—(P)—Cubans have split into two well defined factions over the forthcoming presidential elections in the United States.

There appears to be more genuine interest in the continental campaign than in the insular political situation, despite the fact that Cuba is approaching its own presidential election. All possibility of a contest in the domestic campaign, however, has been removed by the fact that a coalition of the three major Cuban parties makes the reelection of President Machado certain.

The fact that both candidates have been credited in the news with favoring protection of the United States farmer, have disturbed Cuban sugar growers who had been hoping for a reduction of the American tariff on sugar.

There is a growing sentiment in favor of rescinding the present reciprocity agreement between Cuba and the United States in the event that no move is made in Washington to lower the tariff barriers against Cuban sugar.

MAN IS FINED $10 FOR ASSAULTING HIS WIFE

John Schermetzler, Kaukauna, was fined $25 and costs by Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court Friday morning when he pleaded guilty of assault and battery. He was arrested Friday morning by Sheriff Otto Zuehike on complaint of his wife, Theresa.

2 MEN ARE FINED FOR PARKING TOO LONG

William Montgomery, 213 W. Prospect-ave and F. H. Neuman, 219 W. Washington-st, were fined $1 and costs each by Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court Friday morning when they pleaded guilty of violating the time-limit parking ordinance in effect on College-ave. Both men were arrested Thursday by Officer William Lockery.

Wisconsin Weather
Generally fair in west and north; rain or snow in southeast portion to night and probably Saturday; colder in east and south portion tonight.

General Weather
The low pressure or storm, area over the central states, is slowing up somewhat in its movement, being centered this morning over Missouri, but it is causing precipitation throughout most of the central portion of the country. Apparently it is too far south to cause appreciable precipitation this far north in the state, however. The northwestern high pressure area, with its attendant cold wave, is moving southward over the Great plains, with temperature far below normal and it should cause two or three days at least of cold weather here after the storm passes.

M'GILLAN SPEAKS IN CITY TONIGHT

Democratic Candidate for Congress Will Give Address in Eagle Hall

Mayor James A. McGillan of Green Bay, Democratic candidate for congressman from the Ninth district, will deliver a campaign address here at Eagle hall at 8 o'clock Friday night.

Arrangements for the meeting were made by the Outagamie County Democratic club. Stephen D. Balliet, chairman, will preside at the gathering. The Eagle, Pipe and Drum corps will parade the streets before the address. Many Democratic candidates for county officers will attend the meeting.

More than 200 people heard an address by F. J. Rooney, Democratic candidate for district attorney, at a political rally at Hein's hall in Greenville Thursday night. Mr. Rooney discussed county, state, and national issues.

On Friday night Mr. Rooney is scheduled to give a talk at Five Corners, and on Saturday night he will talk at Bear Creek.

The meeting at Bear Creek, according to Mr. Balliet, will wind up the public campaign activities of the Democratic club. Except for an organized effort of the Democratic voters to get out a record vote, the campaign will be closed.

FIND QUICK METHOD TO ANALYZE SOILS

Hydrometer Test Is Rapid and Simple, Reports Agricultural Expert

East Lansing, Mich.—(AP)—A rapid, simple, inexpensive method for making a mechanical analysis of soils, which gives land owners an idea of their usefulness and heretofore has taken weeks to accomplish, has been worked out by George J. Bouyoucos of the Michigan agricultural experiment station.

By using a soil dispersing machine, a soil hydrometer and a special cylinder which cost about $25, he has been able to make satisfactory analyses in 15 minutes which show the relative amounts of sand, silt and clay or colloids in the specimens examined. Where it is desired merely to determine the proportions of the combined sands and the combined silt and clay, only one minute is required.

"The results obtained by the hydrometer method," he says, "have been compared with the results of the mechanical analysis method on 30 different soils. The mechanical analysis on these soils was performed by the United States Bureau of soils.

"Both methods agree in the combined sand, coarse silt, and clay, or colloids, but they disagree in the finer silt. The mechanical analysis classes this fine silt with the coarse silt, whereas the hydrometer method classes it with the clay, because it has more of the characteristics of clay."

From an academic standpoint, he concedes, "we are not justified in classing the finer silt with the clay, or colloids, but logically, there may be justification for it," when some of the silt has the same characteristics as clay. In many questions

TWO MORE CANDIDATES FILE EXPENSE ACCOUNTS

Two more candidates for county offices filed expense accounts Friday with John E. Hantschel, county clerk. F. M. Charlesworth, Jr. Kaukauna, Republican, candidate for county surveyor, reported only $1 in expenses. Robert J. Doersch, Republican candidate for assemblyman from the Second Outagamie-co. district, reported no expenses. The Outagamie County Farmer Labor Progressive Republican league reported no expenses. William Van Nortwick, 229 N. Union-st, president and treasurer of the Green Bay and Mississippi Canal company, filed an affidavit showing a $100 contribution to the Outagamie County Republican club headed by W. H. Zuehike.

PATROL LEADERS WILL ARRANGE CONFERENCE

Senior patrol leaders of the valley council of boy scouts will meet at the valley council scout offices in the George Walsh building on W. College-ave at 7:30 Friday evening to arrange plans for the patrol leaders conference this month, according to M. G. Clark, valley scout executive. Regular business matters also will be discussed.

50 SCOUTS WILL ATTEND WISCONSIN GRID GAME

Approximately 50 local boy scouts of the valley council will leave for Madison early Saturday morning in private cars where they will be the guests of the University of Wisconsin Athletic department at a dinner Saturday noon and at the Wisconsin-Alabama football game in the afternoon, according to M. G. Clark, valley scout executive. The return trip will be started early in the evening.

EIGHT STATES IN SOLID SOUTH ARE SAFE FOR SMITH

90 Electoral Votes Are Certain to Go for Democratic Nominee

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the fourth of several stories outlining the political situation in various states as the campaign draws to its close.

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

Washington—Texas has 20 electoral votes, Georgia 14, Alabama 12, Louisiana 10, Mississippi 10, South Carolina 9, Arkansas 9 and Florida 6.

These are considered the least doubtful states of the solid Democratic south. Smith's campaign is predicted on the assumption that they, along with Virginia and most of the so-called border states, will maintain their allegiance to the democracy. But the Republicans are making a serious attempt to carry them for the first time in recent history and plenty of money and effort has been poured in by both sides. It is only with the last few weeks that the Democrats have asserted, with much confidence, their ability to hold the solid south.

But the trend of political thought has been more and more to consider it safe for Smith as the Pacific coast states are for Hoover.

Prohibition, religion and Tammany have been the issues raised against Smith in the south. No one questions that the combination is all that can defeat him anywhere in this territory. It is often charged by loyal Democrats that prohibition has been used as a cloak for religious bigotry and Smith himself said Tammany was being similarly used.

While everyone agrees that this is true, it is also true that the south was politically dry long before Smith's nomination and that his bold attitude on prohibition has given his enemies a stronger basis for attack.

The "white supremacy" argument has been brought to Smith's aid in some states. Alabama, for instance, which might have gone for Hoover at one time, but now is regarded majority. Organization Republicans there openly attack the Catholic church in their campaign, the anti-Smith workers have spread many copies of the bogus Knights of Columbus oath, and Smith has been attacked as a "negro bootlicker."

But the dominant Democratic organization appears to have pulled Smith out of what might have been a hole, despite Senator Heflin and partly by giving plenty of publicity to Hoover's anti-segregation order in the census bureau. The campaign has continued bitter, however, and the evangelists, the Anti-Saloon League and the Klan are sure to reduce normal Democratic majorities.

Such reports from Alabama are typical of those from other southern states. Regular Democrats were given ample time to ameliorate the effects of the "whispering campaigns." Southern senators, governors and other trusted leaders have almost unanimously come to bat for the national ticket and there have been few major defections among the press.

In Georgia Bishop Candler's assertion that the churches should keep out of politics undoubtedly Smith and the Klan appears to have failed to resuscitate itself on the Smith issue. The defeat of ex-Congressman Upshaw, a bolter, in the primaries, was regarded as a significant straw in the wind. The anti-Smith movement is virtually leaderless and it is reported that even Ben Davis, colored Republican national committeeman, refuses to co-operate in the "whispering campaign" waged by the bolters. The state seems sure for Smith.

Republican National Chairman Work has conceded Texas to Smith. There has been plenty of bolting in the Lone Star States, but since Governor Dean Moody came out in support of the ticket Democrats have considered it only a case of a reduced majority.

Mississippi also is regarded as a sure Smith bet, although the Republican vote is expected to be much larger than before.

In Florida there have been evidences of strong Republican efforts and Florida is perhaps more likely to go Republican than any of the states previously mentioned in this story. At one time there was some worry among regular Democratic leaders, but it appears to have disappeared.

NEWSPAPER ARTICLE SECURES INFORMATION

Through an article which appeared in the Appleton Post Crescent John E. Hantschel, county clerk, has received considerable information regarding the origin of the name of the town of Binghamton.

And through another coincidence most of the information is gleaned from a newspaper clipping taken from the May 17, 1923, issue of the Post Crescent. Mr. Hantschel had received a request from a newspaper in Binghamton, N. Y., asking for the information to be used in a special edition of the paper on its twenty-fifth anniversary.

A local citizen, after reading Mr. Hantschel's request for information, sent the county clerk a clipping from the Post-Crescent of May 17, 1923, and this information Mr. Hantschel is passing on to the newspaper in New York.

The village of Binghamton was named after a surveyor, T. P. Bingham, who owned most of the land in that vicinity. The locality was settled in 1853 by immigrants who were attracted to Wisconsin by stories of the fertile lands.

TEN SCOUT TROOPS TO REGISTER BY JAN. 1

Ten troops of the valley council of boys scouts will be registered before Jan. 1, according to M. G. Clark, valley scout executive. They are 1, 4, 6, 9, 13, 14, 15, 20, 21, and 8. The standing of the individual troops are to be sent to the National Council offices at New York and if the troop is found in good condition it receives a new charter according to Mr. Clark.

E. DE PERE CONTEST IS LAST OF SEASON

Coach Bergland Makes Changes in Lineup in Final Football Game

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—The last chance for New London's football squad to retrieve its lost ground or at least a portion of that ground lost in its past encounters, will be found in the game on Friday with E. De Pere at the local athletic field.

Coach Bergland announced to his men in Thursdays afternoon's practice that the lineup would be somewhat changed. A Burton and Wilson will play ends; Schimke and A. Learman tackles; Soffe and Gottereu, guards; Wiedenbeck center; V. Burton, fullback; Meating, quarterback; Dernbach and Dayton, halfbacks; Brown, Pfeifer, C. Learman and Ludwig will be reserves. No games are to be played after the official close of the season, it is stated.

NEW LONDON PERSONALS

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—Mr. and Mrs. Frank Napparalla and children of Plaisted, Miss Evelyn James of Pittsville, Donald Mansfield of Nichols and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Dowlski and daughters of Green Lake, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lontowski and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Jerrick of this city are guests at the Joseph Napparalla home Sunday.

Miss Delia Fricke was a visitor this week at the home of her mother, Mrs. Charles Pasch and family. Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Krause of Liberty, who are recent guests at the Pasch home.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Radtke and son of Milwaukee, spent the weekend at the Gustave Radtke home.

Mr. and Mrs. George Jilson are planning to leave Wednesday for their annual trip to Florida, where they spend the winter months.

Mesdames Ruth Manske, Lillian Lisch, Mary Schaller and Miss Gertrude Learman motored to Shawano Wednesday where they attended the installation of officers of the American Legion Auxiliary. Mrs. Manske acted as installing officer.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Jennings were visitors at Green Bay Thursday.

SHOW GESE FLY SOUTH OVER ALTERED ROUTES

New London—From early morning until noon on Thursday flocks of snow geese, rarely seen in this region were seen flying southward. These were observed very early by men of this city who annually note the passage of migratory fowl and birds. The Rev. F. S. Dayton declared that the snow geese is seldom seen hereabouts of late years due to the fact that the cause of migration from the north has been from the Hudson Bay country, where the birds summer, along the Atlantic seaboard to the lakes south of the Carolinas. The geese have been so harassed by hunters, that their route has been changed, and that it is that flocks of the snow-white birds with black tipped wings are seen this season feeding on the corn fields abounding Lake Michigan and Pagan. The snow geese is larger than the Canada geese.

MRS. LILLIAN LYON DIES AT NEW LONDON

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—Mrs. Lillian Lyon, 70, died Saturday at 10:30 Thursday evening at her home on S. Pearl st. She had apparently been in good health and had visited her son, Dr. Ed Lyon. The latter brought her to her home, located in a flat above a candy store. Girls employed heard her all night after her return. Survivors are two sons, Dr. Ed Lyon and Nancy Lyon and one grandson.

JOHN POLZIN DIES AT CLINTONVILLE

High and Grade School Teachers Entertained by Rotary Club

Special to Post-Crescent
Clintonville—John Carl Polzin, 76, passed away at his home on Anna st. Wednesday morning, after an illness of about two weeks. He was born near Bromberg, Germany, May 11, 1852. When about 21 years of age he came with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ferdinand Polzin, to this country where they located on a farm near Rochester, Minn. On September 11, 1878, he married Miss Amelia Schultz, in that city. After about eight years they came to Waupaca and located on a farm near Manawa. About ten years ago they moved to this city and have made their home on Anna st. since that time. Nine children were born to Mr. and Mrs. Polzin, six of whom survive. They are Mrs. L. Kisrow, E. Etta, Minn.; Mrs. John Schultz, Mrs. Marlon Hodges and Virginia L. Margaret Buss, Maude Brown, Lorraine Baker, Carolyn Calef, Audrey Dean, Eunice Konrad, Helen Loebecke, Joyce Ann Perry, Jeanette Stengraber, Ruth Phell, Anita Holz and Robina Wirt.

Mrs. Clifford Dean entertained 14 little girls at the Dean home in honor of her daughter Betty Jane. Contests and games furnished the entertainment. Eunice Conrad and Jeanette Stengraber receiving prizes. The guests were Betty Jean's teacher, Miss Marlon Hodges and Virginia L. Margaret Buss, Maude Brown, Lorraine Baker, Carolyn Calef, Audrey Dean, Eunice Konrad, Helen Loebecke, Joyce Ann Perry, Jeanette Stengraber, Ruth Phell, Anita Holz and Robina Wirt.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Pieper were host and hostess to a few friends and relatives Tuesday evening in celebration of their son Vernon's fourth birthday anniversary. Schakop and five hundred were played during the evening. Mrs. Fred Fuerst received prizes for first and second scores in five hundred and John Kopitzke and Arthur Kopitzke for first and second scores in schakop. The guests were Messrs. and Mesdames Arthur Bork, Fred Fuerst and daughter, William Kopitzke, Edward Kopitzke, John Kopitzke, Melvin Pieper and family and Wallace Weils and family.

Funeral services were conducted at the Polzin home at 1 o'clock Friday afternoon. Burial was made in the Big Falls cemetery.

The Rotary club entertained the teachers of the high and grade schools of this city at a Halloween party Wednesday evening at the Marion hotel. A banquet was served at 7:30. After the banquet a program of entertainment was put on by a committee. Music for the occasion was furnished by Arthur Finegan, Donald McDonough and Mrs. Earl Siebert. Dancing was enjoyed until the hour of twelve.

Miss Gretchen Kohl entertained a few friends on Monday evening, which was her birthday anniversary. The evening was spent socially.

The last meeting for the season of the L. T. L. was held on Thursday afternoon in the Congregational church parlor. The following program was "presented": a song, "Mill Wheel"; devotional, led by Mrs. H. B. Dodge; song by M. Patterson; instrumental music, Mildred Olen; temperance story, Mrs. Earl Smith. Several new members were received into the organization. Following the meeting a luncheon was served by Mrs. Earl Smith, Mrs. H. B. Dodge and Mrs. John Elsberry.

Miss Josephine Gretzinger entertained a few of her friends at a party Wednesday evening, the occasion being her birthday anniversary. Buncos and other games were played. Mr. Dagel was the last survivor of the famous Iron Brigade and for a number of years held the office of grand commander of the G. A. R. He was one of a family of fourteen children. A sister, Mrs. Mary Besaw of this city is the only survivor of this family. Other survivors residing in this vicinity are Mrs. R. J. Small, Mrs. Warren Wling and Mrs. Julius Hoba. Mr. Dagel was well known in this city through his many visits at the Small home.

MANY ARE BRAVING COLD TO PLAY AT SPRINGVALE

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—Mrs. R. J. Small received word Thursday of the death of her uncle Frank Dagel, 81, which occurred at his home at Des Moines, Iowa, Wednesday morning as the result of injuries received in an auto accident Tuesday. Mr. Dagel who was a Texas and Minnesota land agent, had just left with a party of friends for Dona, Texas, to spend the winter and had gone but a short distance when the accident occurred.

Mr. Dagel was the last survivor of the famous Iron Brigade and for a number of years held the office of grand commander of the G. A. R. He was one of a family of fourteen children. A party was given by the Junior Department of the Sunday school of the Congregational church at the church parlor on Tuesday evening.

The party was given by the teachers, the guests including all pupils holding a certain percentage of credits required by the department for a given length of time. The activities began at a 6 o'clock dinner.

Those in charge of the party were: Mrs. Earl Smith, department superintendent; Miss Sarah Laabs, Miss Gretchen Kohl, Miss Margaret Taylor and Miss Myrtle Hamilton.

Prizes were awarded to Duane Bred, Woodrow LaValley, Robert Stieg, Alfreda and Harvey Wehe and Levi Anderson.

SUGAR BUSH GIRL IS HOSTESS AT PARTY

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—As a special entertainment for people of the rural districts who will be guests of city business men on Nov. 15, turkeys and geese will be given away in a novel manner, the details of which have not been determined definitely. Probably the event will resemble the one held here when a football, dropped from the top of a business building, was retrieved by a member of the crowd, with fowls substituted for the ball. Formerly this event has come as a conclusion to the farmer's day festivities giving during the past two years. Live geese are contributed by each business house and the mad scramble in the street below have been hilarious affairs.

AMERICAN standards of living are the highest in the world—and steadily improving. American wages are by far the highest in the world—and steadily advancing. American workers have the shortest hours in the world—and they are steadily becoming less. American homes have more conveniences, more comforts, and more luxuries than any other homes in the world.

Americans own more automobiles, wear better clothes, have more amusements and more plentiful food than the citizens of any other country in the world.

Hold Herbert Hoover on the Job!

"Real wages and standards of living of our labor have improved more during the past seven and a half years of Republican rule than during any similar period in the history of this or any other country"— says Herbert Hoover—and he knows—for, as Secretary of Commerce for Calvin Coolidge, he more than any other individual directed the business policies which made it so!

Our National progress has been built upon time-tested Republican policies—not untried and doubtful experiments. WHY CHANGE NOW?

Republican tariff protection has increased the comfort and happiness of every American citizen—man and woman—housewife and clerk—worker and farmer—merchant and manufacturer.

Republican restricted immigration has protected American wage-earners from a flood of cheap labor that would lower wages and cause unemployment.

Republican export policies have increased our foreign sales of American surplus industrial and agricultural products from $3,750,000,000 in 1922 to $4,840,000,000 in 1927—over a billion dollars increase—the means of livelihood for more than two million American families.

Why trade such proven benefits for a phantom glass of beer?

Under able management we can confidently expect these proved Republican policies to produce even greater prosperity in the future.

Let's elect as President America's best business administrator—Herbert Hoover—and keep our jobs and our prosperity.

Prosperity Didn't "Just Happen"

As shown by Herbert Hoover's statements

Every man has a right to ask of us whether the United States is a better place for him, his wife and his children to live in, because the Republican Party has conducted the government for nearly eight years. Every woman has a right to ask whether her life, her home, her man's job, her hopes, her happiness, will be better assured by the continuance of the Republican Party in power.

Acceptance Speech, August 11, 1928.

Higher Wages

... the average of real wages is higher today than ever before. And the arduous hours of labor have decreased. We can easily prove this. As a standard of comparison, let us take the purchasing power of wages in 1918 or before the war. In purchasing power we consider both the dollars and the cost of living. Taking this standard we shall find that real wages at the height of the war inflation were about 80 per cent over 1918. Despite the great after-war slump they have risen until today they are over 50 per cent greater than before the war. Viewed in another way, while the cost of living today is about 60 points on the index above pre-war, wages are 127 above. Parallel with this increase in real wages the average hours of labor have steadily decreased.

Moreover, our real wages and our standards of living are the highest in the world. And I am again speaking of the real buying power of wages.

Newark Speech, September 17, 1928.

Cooperation Promised

I have already stated the position of the Republican Party in positive support of free collective bargaining. I have stated that it is necessary to impose restrictions on the excessive use of injunctions. It is my desire and the desire of every good citizen to ameliorate the cause of industrial conflict, to build toward that true cooperation which must be the foundation of common action for the common welfare. The first requisite to less conflict is full employment. By full employment we are steadily reducing conflict and loss.

Newark Speech, September 17, 1928.

High Standard of Living

Our workers with their average weekly wages can today buy two and often three times more bread and butter than any wage earner of Europe. At one time we demanded for our workers a "full dinner pail." We have now gone far beyond that conception. Today we demand larger comfort and greater participation in life and leisure.

Most of all, I like to remember what this progress has meant to America's children. The portal of their opportunity has been ever widening. While our population has grown but 8 per cent we have increased by 11 per cent the number of children in our grade schools, by 66 per cent the number in our high schools, and by 75 per cent the number in our institutions of higher learning.

Acceptance Speech, August 11, 1928.

More Jobs and More Wages

On any calculation our exports have increased by over one billion dollars during the past seven years. This is an increase of 41 per cent since 1922 and an increase of 58 per cent over pre-war.

It is no accident which has brought about this unique situation in the United States. It is not chance that has brought this added employment for American workmen, and added markets for American farmers. Things like that don't happen.

More than two million families in the United States earn their living today producing goods for export,

Avoid Disaster

At such a time as this a change in national policies involves not—as some may lightly think—only a choice between different roads, by either of which we may go forward, but a question also as to whether we may not be taking the wrong road and moving backward. The measure of our national prosperity, of our stability, of our hope of future progress at this time is the measure of what we may risk through change in present policies. More than once in our national history a change in policies in a time of advancement has been quickly followed by a turn toward disaster.

Newark Speech, September 17, 1928.

ZUEHLKE SCORES EKERN'S ACTIONS

Urge Republican Workers to Concentrate Efforts as Campaign Closes

Urging Republican workers not to allow their enthusiasm for the national ticket make them forget the state election W. H. Zuehlke, chairman of the Outagamie County Republican club, at a meeting of G. O. P. workers in the campaign headquarters in the Insurance bldg. Thursday night instructed the workers to concentrate their efforts during the last few days of the campaign to get out a record vote.

Mr. Zuehlke scored Herman L. Eker for gaining control of the state platform convention by illegally voting a number of proxies. He said Mr. Eker's actions at this meeting were a clear violation of the rules and that the workers should keep active in order to defeat the candidate supported by the Progressives. He also scored the Progressives for their attempts to defeat Kohler by raising the cry of "extensive expenditures." He pointed out that the Progressives spent big sums in the campaign but the money was expended in such manner that it was not necessary to report it as campaign expenses.

A letter was read from Dr. David Starr Jordan, president emeritus of Leland Stanford University in California, in which he told of his activities to assist the campaign of Herbert C. Hoover. The letter was addressed to the Appleton Hoover-Curtis club. Dr. Jordan formerly resided in Appleton.

Arrangements were made for the address at Lawrence Memorial Chapel Monday night by Chas. Osborn, former governor of Michigan. He will talk in behalf of the candidacy of Herbert C. Hoover. Mr. Osborn's address will wind up the Republican campaign in the county.

MINISTERS PLAN UNION THANKSGIVING PROGRAM

The Rev. H. E. Peabody of the First Congregational church addressed the Fox River Valley Ministerial association on the Christianity in Europe at meeting of the association at the Y. M. C. A. Thursday afternoon. He compared the Christianity of America with that of foreign countries. A dinner preceded the talk.

Plans for conducting a leadership training course similar to the one conducted at the Baptist church last year were discussed. A committee was appointed to make plans. It is composed of the Rev. W. R. Wetzel, the Rev. A. C. Panzau, and the Rev. E. M. Salter.

Plans for a union Thanksgiving day program were also discussed. It is expected several local churches will combine and hold services together. A committee is in charge of getting a speaker and securing a place for the meeting.

NOTED DANCER TO APPEAR IN CITY

Doris Niles and Supporting Company Will Be Seen Here at Memorial Chapel

Though young in years, Doris Niles, American dancer who with her supporting company of 27 artists will appear at Memorial Chapel on Nov. 8 under auspices of the Appleton Womans club, has celebrated successes not only in her own country, but in Paris, Madrid and other foreign centers.

Last summer she danced before a queen and two kings and other royalties at a dinner given by American Ambassador and Mrs. Hammond in the Embassy at Madrid. Miss Niles danced at the request of King Alfonso and Queen Victoria of Spain.

Other royalties present were the royal princesses and the son of Alfonso and Isabel, Jaime, the Infanta Isabella, King George of Greece, and Premier de Rivera. After the young California girl had danced, she was presented to receive congratulations, and when the King and Queen learned that she would return annually in the summer months to their country, they asked her to dance before them every time she came.

The ticket sale for the Doris Niles performance began Friday morning at Bellings' drug store.

"YOU KNOW YOU
DON'T OWN YOUR BOY, M A D A M"

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON
A certain doctor rebuked a mother who had selfishly commanded her son's every free moment, by the sharp words, "Excuse me, Madam, but you know you don't own your boy."

What he meant was, of course, that no human being can regard another human being as chattel.

In this case there had been trouble. The son, a generously inclined boy had been continuously deprived of every second of free time for years.

As he grew older his mother's demands had grown accordingly until in very truth he couldn't call his soul his own.

Then finally had come rebellion. His mother's bossing then allied itself with scolding and threats. What he had given willingly at first she obtained now by more strenuous methods.

One day when he had been given a prize a five dollars for a composition in a contest at school and proudly announced that he was going to buy a long-coated fountain pen with it she took the money. Then trouble started in earnest. The case became complicated.

And it was in answer to the mother's statement, "He's my boy and I shall do as I please with him," that a member of the school board, a doctor, made the above statement.

If a parent takes the attitude that everything a child does, every thought he thinks, every breath he takes, and every object he owns belong to his parents, there is probably no law in the land to dispute it.

But morally is it wrong?

He has time for school, and time for chores, and time for his studying. He still should have a few minutes a day to live for himself. He has a right to that. Everybody has a right to that.

Not only that but he should have rights of possession. Certain things should be his sacred property. That money morally belongs to the boy. The mother actually did not need it.

Some mothers dread the moment when their children achieve independence and start to think and act for themselves. Perhaps that is accountable for just such instances as this.

It probably is caused primarily by a mistaken mother love that tries to keep "her baby" in into maturity. She will sacrifice his happiness to do it.

Children must have supervision. They must have certain laws to live by, and certain obligations to live up to. But their lives are their own. Neither age, custom, nor sentiment should cause us to lose sight of that.

WIFELY LIVES
WHERE HUBBY
DOES IS RULING

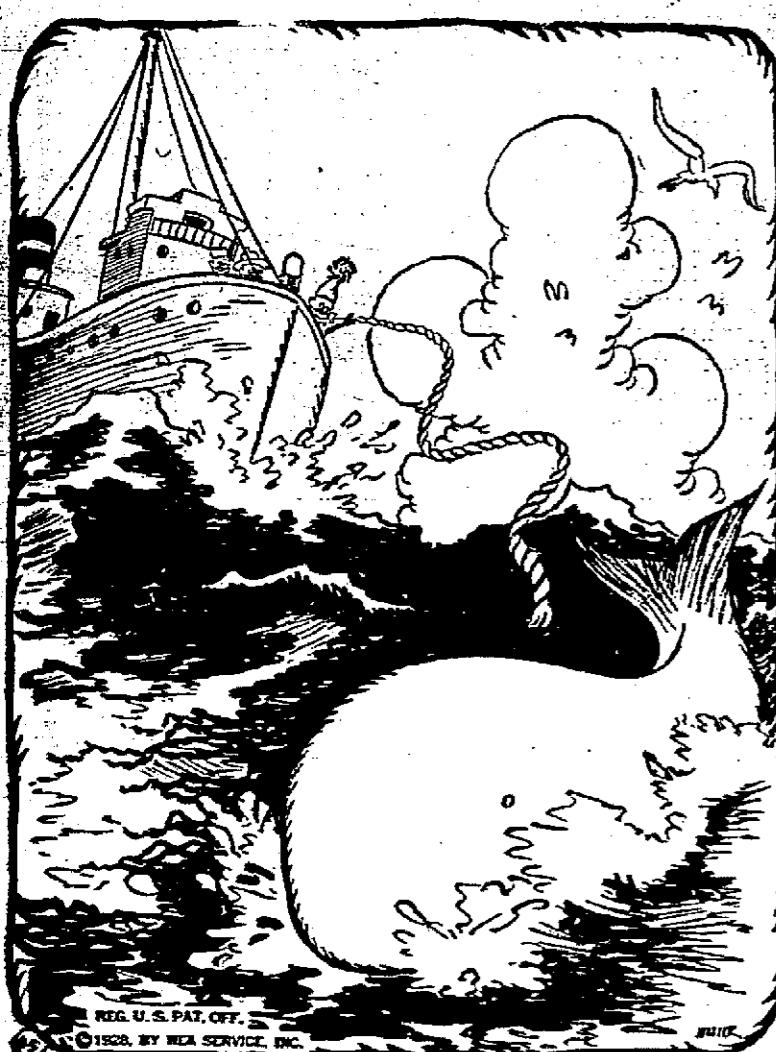

The husband's residence continues to be the residence of the wife, no matter how long she tarries elsewhere, according to ruling levied by the U. S. Customs Bureau in the famous Ganna Walska (Mrs. Harold McCormick) case. The singer, you may recall, claimed that she need not pay duty on clothes and jewels brought into this country because she was here only on a visit, her own home being Paris, where she was in business with a perfume shop.

The National Woman's Party is stirred and outraged by the Mrs. McCormick decision, as one of their juiciest bones of contention has ever been that a woman, even a wife, could have residence where she pleased, and that acceptance of the fact that a husband's residence must be a wife's residence is archaic and unjust in this modern world.

It does seem that in an age which finds wives helping pay the rent side by side with men, such a ruling is a bit absurd!

THE TINYMITES

By Hal Cochran

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE

ALL through the night of Hal-loween the Tinymites were on the scene and having heaps and heaps of fun till time to go to bed. The captain then said, "Hey, you boys will have to stop this awful noise. You're keeping me awake, and I'm an awful sleepy head."

"I've let you run and shout and play, but now you'd best be on your way to make a trip to Shumberland. The sleep will do you good." The Tinymite agreed that he was just as right as he could be. So off they ran to go to bed just as all good boys should.

At break of day the captain came and looked at them. "Why, it's a shame," said he, "to spoil their slumber, but 'tis time that they arose. The horn for breakfast shortly blows. I think I'll tickle all their toes until they come from Shumberland, and open up their eyes."

When this was started, Clowny jumped. Oh my, oh my, how his

Slim Silhouette Is Just As Important As Ever

BY ROSETTE

PARIS—While the new collections of winter fashions offer women a wider range of feminine touches, such as longer skirts and form-fitting bodices, the latest ideas do not promise her an easier life. She still must be mindful of her silhouette.

Whatever might be said of new fashions, the woman herself, who must wear them, is always important. She will have to keep a close watch on her figure, for these beautifully feminine frocks call for slim, svelte lines. The slightest hint of "roundness" will necessitate even more discrimination than before when deciding upon winter clothes.

Take the princess dress a theme all couturiers have worked on. In many instances it clings to the figure down to where the old waistline used to be—somewhere above the knees—and then flares out either to the right, left, or all the way around. Many women will want to have such a dress, but it must be just the right kind of "princess," or the result will be disastrous.

AN ADAPTABLE STYLE

The robe de style, or period dress, is another Lorelei to ensnare many women. Contrary to what many may believe, this is a style becoming to almost any type of woman, provided, of course, that it is adjusted to the right proportions of her figure. There are some robes de style in Jeanne Lanvin's collection suitable to the debutante and the young matron, to the very slim and to the fuller figure, to the tall woman and her shorter sister.

It seems this season that Lanvin has achieved a triumph as far as her evening gowns are concerned, and her collection is both sumptuous and varied. An outstanding model was made of thick red moire with a huge pouf effect on one side and a form fitting bodice cut in deep V at the back. A huge bow in straw above the pouf gave a glittering touch to the frock.

Lanvin uses the most diverse fabrics for her evening dresses, and while she confines taffetas, tulles, moires to her permed gowns, many others figure quite extensively.

Velvet, mostly in solid shades, mousseuse de soie, combined with fine lace or alone, makes up most of the other models, a good part of which are built on the princess-dress theme. She has one or two scintillating, strass-embroidered sheath evening gowns that are given necessary width by the insertion of tulles godets and panels. Lanvin favors the Empire decollete, too, although the rounded neck in front and deep decollete at the back is also featured.

FOLLOWS SKIRT LINES

Another problem that Lanvin has solved is that of the evening coat to wear with these dipping skirts. While a great many couturiers frankly ignore this question and are showing coats for the evening rather shorter than last season, Jeanne Lanvin gives the same lines to the evening coat. Perhaps it is a question of habit, but there is nothing particularly graceful in seeing long wisps of mousseuse or a panel floating round a woman's ankles when she slips her wrap on.

Phillipe and Gaston is another house where wraps are to be found to harmonize with the new dipping skirts, and Monsieur Gaston seems to favor the cape effect in this respect. Beautiful shades of red and blue with elaborate fur collars and cuffs vie with colorful lambs and black velvet in the models they show. This house has a reputation for beautiful fur trimmings and this is apparent throughout the whole collection.

There is an afternoon coat which Phillippe and Gaston have created suitable for very formal afternoon wear as well as for the evening. Black velvet is naturally the material used, but the ornate trimming fits any occasion. Every detail has been studied with great care and the idea seems an excellent one.

Castoria is a comfort when Baby is fretful. No sooner taken from the little one is at ease. If restless, a few drops soon bring contentment. No harm done, for Castoria is a baby remedy, meant for babies. Perfectly safe to give the youngest infant; you have the doctors' word for that. It is a vegetable product and you could use it every day. But it's an emergency that Castoria means most. Some night when constipation must be relieved—or colic pains—or other suffering. Never be without it; some mothers keep an extra bottle, unopened, to make sure there will always be Castoria in the house. It is effective for older children, too; read the book that comes with it.

CAPITOL RESIDENTS COMPLAIN BECAUSE THEY CANNOT VOTE

Washington People Prepare
"Indignation" Meeting for Election Day

BY KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Washington — The good people of Washington, who will be mere innocent onlookers at the election Nov. 6, have already taken steps to "celebrate" election day in a fashion all their own.

Through a committee on representation set up by those citizens who have long been howling with indignation over the fact that Washington residents alone are disqualified as a class from voting, plans have been framed to make the great day of the national election for other Americans a "Humiliation Day" for voiceless Washingtonians.

VOTELESS BOOTHS
Among other means by which the agitators of votes for District of Columbia residents hope to impress their situation on the country will be the placing of election booths about the city, all to be silent witnesses to the political impotency of this half million or so section of the American people. The booths will be draped in mourning. The "Voteless League of Women Voters," Washington's own special unit of the National of Women Voters, will take care of this work.

Other methods of propaganda adopted include an airplane bombardment of the city and surrounding territory with "Votes for Washington" stickers and the letting loose of toy balloons by the thousand setting forth the same plea. Automobile windshield stickers on domestic and visiting cars are expected to carry on the good work over a wide area. There are to be radio address and slogan campaigns in the movie houses with hopes of getting the news reels to spread word of the plight of Washingtonians far and wide.

Just how effective all this will be toward promoting a national movement to give Washington a place of its own in national politics remains to be seen. The nation will be so busy that day finding out whom it has elected to the White House that it will not have much time to think dispassionately of the curious condition that deprives the residents of the nation's capital of any share in that or any other election. But what the organizers of the campaign hope for is the welding of public opinion in Washington into such a force that Congress and the country at large must some day recognize and demand for enfranchisement of the people of a city so large and important as to stand well up among the first score or so of metropolitan communities.

WANT OWN SAY
The immediate demand of the Votes for Washington movement is limited and the stickers and other devices for calling it to the attention of the country will show that it is for the right to vote for president and vice president and for representation of the city in congress. The claim is made that in as much as congress is the only board of aldermen or any other form of city father's organization, Washington has, the people are entitled to have a spokesman of their own in at least the house of representatives. The handling of city affairs is regarded as so important by the house that its rules set aside one legislative day each week for their consideration, yet no representative elected by the people of Washington sits in that body.

LOCAL LEGION POST AND GREEN BAY IN DRIVE FOR MEMBERS

Two Cities to Battle for
"Over-the-top" Honors in Contest

Appleton and Green Bay legion posts will compete against each other in two membership contests, according to officers of Oney Johnston post. In one contest the two cities will battle for the honor of being first to go over the top in the membership drive before, and in the second contest will enter into competition with Marinette for the same honor. A gavel awarded by Fred Smith, De Pere, regional commander is the prize in the latter contest.

Kimberly post of the legion has issued a challenge to any post in the country for potential memberships prize. The Kimberly post claims it has 99 per cent of all legionnaires in its district as members and challenges any other post to beat the record.

Counties in the eighth and ninth districts of the legion are battling for the Hairy-Graff cup which will go to the first county to go over the top in the present membership drive. The cup is being awarded by Ferdinand Hairy, commander of the eighth district and Marshal C. Graff, commander of the ninth.

Membership reports so far are that two local district posts were among the first in the state to go over the top. Elcho with 35 members was the first in the state to beat last year's record and Seymour with 44 members the third. Last year Seymour had 43 members.

COMMITTEES WORK ON PLANS FOR ELK SHOW

Plans for staging the annual Elk charity show were discussed and work of the ticket and advertising and publicity committees outlined at a meeting of committee chairmen at the Elk hall Wednesday evening. Seventy members of the club have been named as members of the ticket committee and will be organized into teams. William Jacobson is chairman of the committee.

Russell Spoor, Ralph Gee and Royal LaRose will have charge of the advertising and publicity work and were instructed to arrange their programs.

163 PERMITS FOR NEW HOMES ISSUED HERE

A total of 163 permits for new homes in the city have been issued since the first of the year. The average value of a recently constructed house is about $8,000, according to the report, several $50,000 and $60,000 homes raising the average value. Building permits issued from Jan. 1 to Oct. 1 show construction here of $1,45,910. The figure is expected to reach $2,000,000 before the end of the year.

Al's Wild Welcome in Boston

Three Girls Pay Out All Money For State Expenses

Madison — (AP) — Three girls are paying all of Wisconsin's debts. At least they're making out all the checks through which the state pays its bills.

Mrs. Gladys Jones, pretty, Margaret Page, also pretty, and Mrs. Agnes Brahm, pretty too, are the state's pay-off girls. They are employees of the state department, where checks are taken to the state treasury for further signature.

Consider having a job where you just write checks all day, but get none of the money for them. That is their lot. But once a month, running-pay-roll, they have the pleasure of making out one check apiece that they can keep.

They sit at special typewriters, on which the letters, all in upper case, or capitals, are made of tiny dots, so that the products of their handiwork look like they had been written directly on a check protector machine.

Last year, they combined efforts to produce 275,745 warrants which took hundreds of thousands of dollars out of the state's funds. That was during the fiscal year, from June to the next.

Their desks are literally filled with rubber stamps of varying sizes, which are used on the payrolls to designate the fund from which the amount shall come, the office for which the amount is paid, and to give other identifying marks. The checks come in long sheets, so that they go through the typewriters rapidly, and are often taken to the treasury department in just the same manner, keeping the payments for one cause in one group often times until the checks are mailed to the individuals who are to be benefited by the ladies bountiful.

The signatures of the state officers who must affix their names to the warrants are not placed as each check is made out; neither are they rubber stamped on the money-bearing slips. A machine into which several pens are attached, an worked by one peaholder, allows the officers to sign the long sheets of several checks all at once.

All the pay-off girls have to do, then, is fill in date, name of the person to receive the money, the amount and stamp the slip.

But this is enough to bring down a storm of repetitions of the old wheeze that "It's the woman who pays and pays and pays."

Just go in sometime and "pull" that one on them and see how quickly you become popular.

Several thousand people were thrown out of work by the textile strike in France.

LOCAL PASTOR IS AGAIN ELECTED AS SYNOD SECRETARY

The Rev. F. L. Schrecken-berg Is Reelected as Officer of State Conference

The Rev. F. L. Schrecken-berg, pastor of Trinity English Lutheran church of this city, was reelected secretary and treasurer of the Wisconsin conference of the English Evangelical Lutheran synod of the northwest at the fiftieth convention of that organization held at St. John's English Lutheran church, Oshkosh, Oct. 29 to 31. Dr. Paul R. Siebert of Milwaukee was reelected president.

The convention was attended by about 150 pastors and delegates, and approximately 200 people were at the banquet given Tuesday evening. Appleton people who attended the Tuesday evening program were the Rev. and Mrs. Schrecken-berg, Mr. and Mrs. George E. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Ballheim, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ernst, G. E. Tesch, Mrs. George Wiese, and Mrs. Arthur Wendt.

Norton Williams of Neenah, who was toastmaster at the banquet, gave some interesting statistics about the development of the Lutheran church in the United States. In the decade 1916-26 the Lutheran church showed the largest increase in membership of all Protestant churches, the increase being 113 percent. In 1916 there were three million Lutherans and in 1926 five and one-half million.

The principal speaker at the banquet was A. C. Baumgarten, Milwaukee, field missionary, who spoke on Goals for the Home Mission.

The proposed amended constitution was discussed at the convention, and it will be adopted at the meeting of the synod in June. The conference also decided to establish several new missions, and to purchase an automobile for the field missionary.

The next meeting of the conference will be held at Horicon.

CONSTRUCT GUARD RAIL AT NEW FREIGHT DEPOT

A heavy iron guard rail is being constructed in the Chicago and Northwestern freight yards along N. Superior-st. to protect people from falling from the sidewalk into the tracks which are about a foot and a half lower than the street level according to W. B. Basing, line agent. It also will help to keep children from playing in the yards and around the bumping posts.

Portsmouth, England—(AP)—J. E. Smith, lord mayor-elect, is conductor of the Salvation army band in which his wife, four sons and six daughters all play.

How Al's Home Town Hailed Hoover

Madison Square Garden was jammed to the roof when Herbert Hoover there made his first New York address since his nomination, and one that climaxed his campaign for the presidency. At the right you see him before the microphones that carried his voice to millions of radio listeners and to 22,000 persons in the great hall. Below is a view of the throng that gathered to hear the opponent of the city's native son. The white circle indicates the platform from which Mr. Hoover delivered his appeal against what he termed the "state socialism" favored by the Democrats.

BRIDGE IS COMPLETED ON WAUPACA HIGHWAY

The bridge on Highway 10, in Waupaca-co, which spans Crystal lake near Waupaca, was completed this week by the Garvey-Weyenberg Construction company. The bridge is constructed of steel and concrete and is 50 feet long. It was necessary to drain the lake to enable the construction work. The second concrete footing was laid last week.

WORK IS PROGRESSING ON COUNTY TRUNK Z

Work on County Trunk Z between Appleton and Kaukauna is progressing rapidly, and approximately a mile of asphalt has been laid, according to construction men of the Valley Engineering and Construction company. The work is to proceed to the Kimberly city limits after which it will be abandoned until spring.

Construction work also has been started on County Trunk Z at Kaukauna. Workmen are laying a water bound macadam base and it is expected about 30' feet of asphalt will be laid out of the city limits of Kaukauna before this season is ended, according to construction men.

POLICE ARE ASKED TO WATCH FOR STOLEN FURS

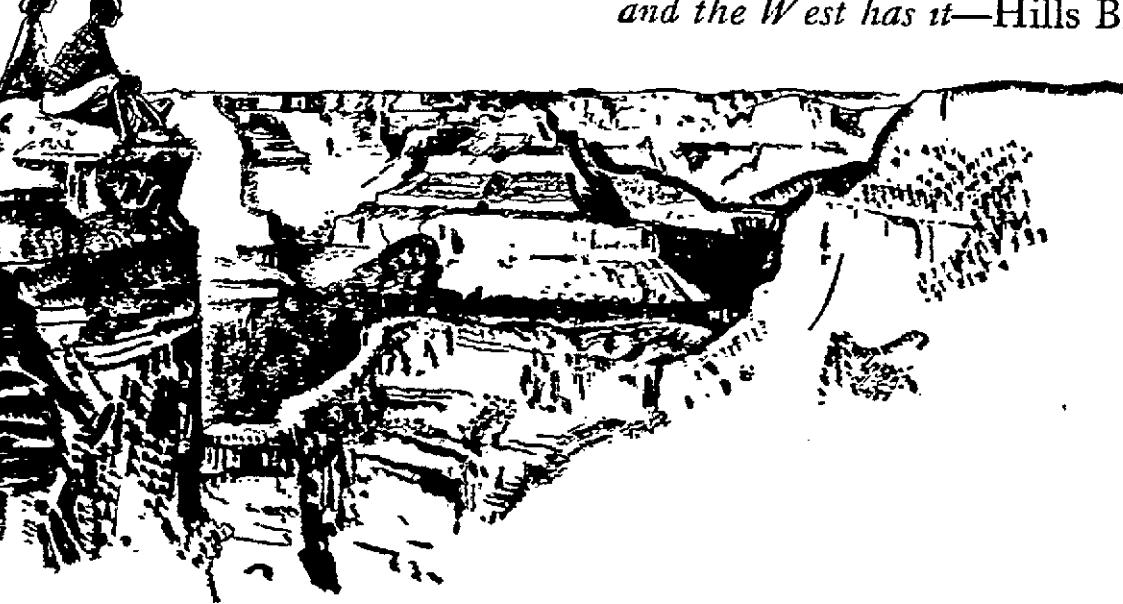

Police here have been asked to watch for a gang of thieves who may attempt to dispose of a quantity of stolen furs taken from the Stackpole, Moore and Tryon company at Hartford, Conn., last Sunday. The burglars stole $2,000 in cash and a number of mink, Persian lamb and black caracal fur coats and it is thought they may try to dispose of some of the furs in the middle west, according to the warning received by the police.

MEATING WILL GIVE ADDRESS AT ANNUAL SCHOOL HEAD'S MEET

County Superintendent Is President of State Organ-ization

A Professional Superintendency will be the subject of an address by A. G. Meating, county superintend-ent of schools, at the annual meeting of the Wisconsin County Superintend-ent's association in Milwaukee on Nov. 7. Mr. Meating is the president of the state association and he has arranged the program for the gathering.

Following Mr. Meating's address a series of five-minute addresses will be given by the following superintend-ents: Maud Mitchell, Walworth-co; W. W. Woolworth, Lafayette-co; Dora Desseur, Langlade-co; Avery C. Jones, Winnebago-co; Paul L. Kaiser, Dodge-co; Margaret Van Nat-ta, Clark-co; Arthur C. Tews, Waukesha-co.

Another feature of the program will be an address by Dr. Earl Baker, director of the public school music department at Lawrence College Conservatory and head of the music department in Appleton public schools, on A Music Program for Rural Schools. In addition to this address he will give a 15-minute-demonstration illustrating the type of work which is being done in Outagamie-co rural schools this year. The introduction of music into the Outagamie-co rural schools marks the initial step in this kind of work for the state.

BAKER TO LECTURE

At noon there will be a luncheon at Hotel Pfister followed by a group singing led by Dr. Baker and an address by John N. Callahan, state superintendent of schools, on The County Superintend-ent's Part in the State Educational Program.

After luncheon there will be a series of reports from sectional chairmen telling of the outstanding effort of the group. Bart McCormick, Madison, secretary of State Teachers' association, will give a talk on What's Doing About the State. Dr. Etta Race of the state superintend-ent's department will give a talk on

VANDALS DAMAGE COSTLY BOOKS AT PUBLIC LIBRARY

Vandalism at the public library is becoming a more serious matter every day, according to Florence Day, librarian, who is making every possible attempt to apprehend the persons who have been mutilating some of the most expensive volumes in the library.

Articles have been clipped from magazines, definitions cut from dictionaries, and whole pages jerked from encyclopedias. The matter has been reported to school authorities and to the chief of police, and a constant watch is being kept at the library in an effort to discover those guilty of these defacements.

ATWATER KENT RADIO

*Every day,
in every town,
you'll hear this*

"WILL this little set give me everything I want in radio?"

"Absolutely. Atwater Kent hasn't overlooked a thing."

"Real all-electric operation, with nothing to do but plug in and listen?"

"That's it. And you don't have to cut down on your listening, either; this set uses only a fraction of a cent's worth of electricity an hour—about as much as an ordinary forty-watt bulb."

"It's such a small set compared with some I have seen. Does that mean it isn't as powerful as the big ones?"

"No, indeed. It only means that Atwater Kent has found out how to put all the essentials in the least space, for your convenience. This set uses six tubes besides a rectifying tube, and it's designed to get the maximum results from every tube. The result is that this is a very powerful set, as well as a sweet-toned one."

"Whenever I visit a home where there is an Atwater Kent they seem to be awfully proud of their radio. They like to show it and let you see how simple it is and tell you it never gets out of order. Is that the common experience?"

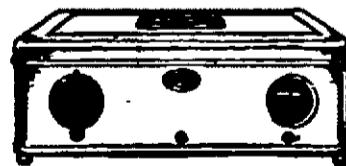

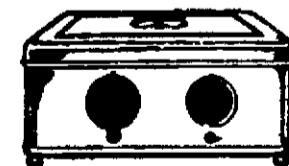

"It certainly is. For pride of ownership you can't beat these Atwater Kent enthusiasts. There are two million of them now, you know, and as an owner can't help recommending Atwater Kent Radio to his friends you might call Atwater Kent the good-will radio. Why, most people won't have anything else."

HOOVER AND SMITH BOOKS ARE POPULAR AT PUBLIC LIBRARY

Librarians Note Interest in Election by Increased Use of Material

Though the librarians at the public library refuse to become involved in over-the-fence discussions of the relative merits of the Republican and Democratic candidates for the presidency, they can, nevertheless, keep a steady eye on the popularity of the two men, for the library's supply of historical and biographical material on Hoover and Smith is in constant use. The biographies of the two men, This Man Hoover by Earl Reeves and Up from the City Streets by Norman Hapgood, are the most popular political books, and neither has had a chance to rest on the library shelves since they were purchased.

The Literary Digest is exceedingly popular because of its weekly poll, and the newspapers are never idle. Even the library's file of old newspapers is being ransacked daily.

Many Requests

Many requests for material on the Republican and Democratic platforms and for the philosophy of both candidates have come in, and there are daily inquiries about the lives of the two men.

An interesting fact, according to Miss Mary de Jonge of the library staff, is that more inquiries have come from townspeople than from students. Usually in political campaigns it is the students who request material, chiefly for use in essays or debates, but in this election more

COMPLAIN HUNTERS SLAUGHTER MUDHEN

A number of Appleton sportsmen are contemplating sending a formal protest to the Wisconsin Conservation commission regarding the wanton slaughter of coots and mudhens in the marshes in the vicinity of Appleton. Hunters take advantage of the large numbers of these birds to slaughter them at will and then leave them lay, it is alleged. If the hunters do not intend to pick up the birds for eating purposes they should not shoot them, sportsman declare.

Townspeople seem to be interested in the background of the two men. Numerous people have intimated that bets of undue proportions on the election have inspired them to a thorough study of each candidate's qualifications.

PROGRESSIVE IS OUT FOR KOHLER

C. J. Schoenfeld Declares
Excessive Campaign Expenses Is "Bunk"

Beaver Dam — Challenging his former associates to produce the true campaign expense account of the Non-Partisan League when it endorsed Blaine for governor, C. J. Schoenfeld, former supporter of the LaFollette Progressive faction Thursday characterized as "all bunk, this howling about trying to buy the governor's chair."

Mr. Schoenfeld, who was a La-

Follette delegate to the Republican national convention at Kansas City and who has since endorsed Walter J. Kohler, Republican candidate for governor, in making his challenge declared that "you cannot run a campaign without money."

Mr. Schoenfeld's statement continued: "I challenge the Progressive party the true campaign expense of Thompson, when he ran as an independent. Why can't the Progressives produce a complete and true expense account? Mainly because a lot of their good financial supporters were advised that it was not necessary to file an account unless one was a candidate for office. I further challenge any Progressive leader to say that he ever cautioned me when I was spending money freely for the Progressive cause. I know that if there were a hundred men in the state, and I have good reason to believe there were more, who spent as much money as I did in some campaigns, the Progressives would be in excess of the Kohler campaign ex-

CHURCH PLAYERS WILL PRESENT MYSTERY PLAY

Rehearsals have been started by a cast of 11 characters on the mystery production, The House of a Thousand Thrills, by Leslie Chadwick Browning, which will be presented under the auspices of the St. Joseph Young Ladies sodality at St. Joseph hall, Nov. 11 and 12.

Highs Try To Keep Record Clean Against Manitowoc

Every Man In Condition For Lakeshore Invaders

Shields Eleven Has Had Only Light Workouts During Week

Those cocky high school grididers will have a chance to show the home-folks just how good they really are when they step out on Whiting Field Saturday afternoon to meet Manitowoc high grididers. They've nothing to goad them on this week, no one in particular to stop and unless they play heads up ball they'll be beaten by the Shipmakers.

Last week the boys went out and beat down the Oshkosh attack, at the same time showing an offensive never before uncovered. This week they've got to show just ordinary football sense and there's no stimulant to keep them battling for the breaks. A defeat Saturday dumps them into the rest of the heap in valley conference standings and gives East Green Bay undisputed claim to the title.

The highs haven't done much this week in the way of practice. They've worked out every evening, limbered up a bit, reviewed fundamentals but during the rest of the time have steered clear of scrimmaging. Thursday night several of the boys who change positions scrimmaged against St. Joseph junior high team.

There are no injuries for Coach Shields to worry about this week but his field general, Berg, is riding a "Charley horse" and has been limping about the field every afternoon. Whether he can snap out of the ailment and perform Saturday remains to be seen. Some fellows have that habit.

Shields also will have to forget about Elias, an end, for Saturday. The youngster caught cold down at Sheboygan a few weeks ago and was out of the Oshkosh game. Reports during the week were he wouldn't be ready for Saturday either. However Shields isn't worrying about the position for DeYoung filled it like a veteran last week.

That old reliable, Jake Schaefer is due to hold down the other wing position and if he's half as good as he was last week he'll entertain the fans with some first class football. Jake is all-conference caliber and no one will keep him off the mythical eleven this season.

The left tackle post on the Orange eleven is pretty much a question. Kranhold will get first choice at the right tackle job and probably will get his daily place kick on the books before the afternoon is over. Shields has a couple men for left tackle, Abraham, Minchmidt, Downers and Winter. The former has first choice because of his experience and all-round playing this season.

Tubby Reetz, he of the long trouser and dashing speed fame, will be the right guard on the Orange team and most anyone will be the other guard. The position has been filled by Downers and Winters, however, and they probably will alternate. Tiny Rankin has the center birth all to himself.

The backfield will be composed of Berg, quarter, if he is able, Popp, fullback and Crane and Bobby Kunitz, halves. Shields has all a man wants in the backfield arrangement, three fast traveling chaps and a husky brute to batter the line. If Berg isn't in the backfield young Frederick Douglas will get a chance to strut his stuff.

Manitowoc has not boasted a strong team throughout the season because of a weak line. However, they use the air-route to score and last week came dangerously close to the Fond du Lac goal line on several occasions. Fondy won 13 to 6. The Ships best player is Galbraith, a husky fullback.

QUITS TEAM AFTER 13 YEARS
Cy Denney, for 13 years star forward of the Oshkosh hockey team, has left that team and is now with the Boston hockey club as assistant to Art Ross, manager.

BRONSON'S THREE HEAVIES
Jimmy Bronson, New York fight manager and great friend of Gene Tunney, thinks he has three good heavyweights in Add Warren, Ed Anderson and Tiny Roebuck.

CHANCE TO SET NEW RECORDS IN GAMES SCHEDULED SATURDAY

New York—(P)—If Dartmouth should beat Yale or Penn State should beat Notre Dame Saturday it would be the first time on record that such a feat had been accomplished. Here are the facts and figures on a half dozen football rivalries including these two, which feature the day's program.

Yale won nine and Dartmouth not any in rivalry begun in 1884; one game was tied.

Penn won five and Chicago one with one tie, since 1898.

Notre Dame won one and one game was tied in two meetings since 1925.

Washington & Jefferson won five, LaFayette four and one was tied, since 1898.

Cornell won ten and Columbia four with one tie, since 1889.

Minnesota won nine and Northwestern two, with one tie, since 1892.

The highs haven't done much this week in the way of practice. They've worked out every evening, limbered up a bit, reviewed fundamentals but during the rest of the time have steered clear of scrimmaging. MUCH ADO about SEVERAL THINGS
By G.R. McIntyre

Here's our entry in the annual weekend guessing contest. Let's hope we've better luck than last week.

Appleton 7, Manitowoc 0.

Ripon 7, Lawrence 0.

East Green Bay 20, Sheboygan 0.

Oshkosh 13, Fond du Lac 0.

Marquette 13, West Green Bay 0.

Wisconsin 25, Alabama 0.

Lake Forest 13, Beloit 0.

Lombard 13, Carroll 7.

Peninsula 21, Chicago 0.

U of S. C. 19, Stanford 7.

Illinois 14, Michigan 0.

Minnesota 14, Northwestern 7.

Yale 19, Dartmouth 0.

Army 40, DePaul 0.

Notre Dame 13, Penn State 7.

Ohio 13, Princeton 7.

Perhaps you're wondering why the guesses. Well, the highs won't go so hot Saturday and probably will be lucky to get one counter. That always happens after a big game. The cold weather will beat Alabama more than the Badger's attack, and Lake Forest is all over Beloit, the Lawrence defeat notwithstanding.

"Win or lose, Michigan supports her grid teams." Boy what a thought that is, and if Lawrence only could do the same thing. Eighty-five thousand are expected to see the Wolverines take another trimming Saturday—that's real support. And we'll bet there won't be a corporal's guard at the Viking pep meeting in the chapel Friday night—unless someone takes roll call to check up on the boys and girls who are absent.

SETTLE STATUS OF HORNSBY NEXT WEEK

Cub Owner Intimates That Rogers May Be Chica-goon

Chicago—(P)—President W. L. Veeck, of the Chicago Cubs intimated Friday that the status of Rogers Hornsby's 1929 baseball affiliations probably would be settled next week.

While refusing to admit that negotiations were under way for the purchase of the Braves' manager and second baseman, President Veeck guardedly hinted that there would be definite announcement within a few days.

"There is nothing new on the Hornsby situation today," said Veeck, "but there will probably be next week."

A PROFITABLE OCCUPATION

Earnings of Lord Derby from arc-ing this season is close to the $300,000 mark, according to reports from London.

Basketball Tournaments Will Begin March 14

Marinette—(P)—Exactly 419 Wisconsin high schools will compete in the annual state high school basketball championships, Paul F. Neverman, Marinette, secretary of the Wisconsin Interscholastic Athletic Association. Plans for the tournaments are announced in a supplement to the current issue of the association's bulletin.

District tournaments will get underway at River Falls March 13 and in the 15 other centers the following day. They last three days. Play will close with the 16 zone winners competing for the title at the University of Wisconsin gymnasium, Madison, March 27 to 30 inclusive.

Mr. Neverman emphasizes the ruling of the board of control which prohibits participation of the state winner in the national tournament conducted by the University of Chi-cago.

The association's board of control will give a trophy to each district winner and gold, silver, and bronzed medals to the eight members of the teams winning first, second and third in the district tournaments.

In the final tournament a conse-lation will be held with teams eliminated in the first round competing for places. Team awards will be given to the champions and the consolation winners. Eight gold medals will go to the winning team, silver to the

RIPON PICKED TO BEAT VIKES SATURDAY

Likes His Points

Blue Howell, captain and crack back at Nebraska, knows one point often means a difference in the outcome of the game—witness Nebraska's recent 7-6 victory over Syracuse—and he doesn't want to ever regret a failure to add an extra point after touchdown. He is shown here practicing the art, with Halfback Sloane holding the ball.

Lawrence Eleven Badly Crippled For Big Game

Fran Bloomer Still Hobbling About and Probably Will Not Play

One of those games the college folk like to talk about for years afterward is carded for Saturday afternoon at Ripon when the Lawrence Vikings battle the Redmen on the Ripon field. Years of tradition are back of the afternoon's mlee and hundreds of old grads from both schools will flock into Ripon Saturday, for the day is almost as much a Lawrence homecoming as it is Ripon's.

Viking students are holding a pep session Friday night in Lawrence chapel to stir up interest in the game and every old flier that ever wheezed will be cranked about noon Saturday and set sail for the birthplace of the Republican party.

Battered and bruised, without the services of its regular quarterback and picked as the underdog, the Vikings will go into the Crimson game in a desperate effort to regain their prestige in Wisconsin grid circles. The defeat at Beloit last week has hurt the Lawrentians badly and they aim to redeem themselves against the Redmen.

Lawrentian interest centers about Fran Bloomer and whether he'll play. Indications are he will not—unless the Vikings come to desperation and then they'll hobble out on the green to toss passes until his team is pulled from danger. Charley Barnes, Bruce McInnis or Rasmussen will call singals for the Vikings.

Several new faces will be found in the Lawrence line, too, Saturday. Someone will be at guard in place of Voecks and another stranger at tackle for Tiny Krohn. Voeck's substitute seems to be either Ehrlert or Tuffy Vincent, depending on how big the Ripon forward wall looks. Bickell has first call for Krohn's post at tackle.

Laird and Gib St. Mitchell, two of the best wingmen in the state are booked to again strut their stuff, both having recovered from bruises received last week. Schneller probably will be at right tackle, having showed up for practice Thursday none the worse from wear while Red Humphrey will play guard alongside Schneller at center.

Coach Rasmussen's substitutes with two of his first stringers definitely out of the game isn't much to brag about. However, the two cripples probably will be in suits and just try to keep them out of game if they figure the coach needs their services.

Ripon—(P)—A riotous "whoopie" demonstration by Ripon business men and students staged at the college grid field Thursday stimulated a year ago River Falls upset Superior 12 to 0. The Falls pedagogues finished in a second place tie, playing a tie game with La Crosse in which a victory would have meant the title last Thanksgiving day. They lost their only game when Stevens Point gave them a startling setback, 6 to 0.

This season both the Falls team and Superior are rated among the strongest in the conference and critics say the game is a "toss-up."

Oshkosh, is favorite to defeat the Waterfall Teachers. The team from Lake Winnebago's shores has lost its only game to the University of Wisconsin "B" team, 20 to 6.

Stevens Point Normal is the other undefeated team in the conference. Stout and Eau Claire both having lost three teachers' conference games and are tied for the league collar with Platteville, will meet in Eau Claire tomorrow. In 1927, the Menomonie team won 8 to 0.

Beloit college is favorite to defeat Lake Forest college. At its homecoming game last Saturday Beloit slipped a 7 to 6 victory over Lawrence, while the Appleton college team won 15 to 7.

A feed date back to 1893 and renewed 20 times will again be waged when Ripon and Lawrence meet in the Redmen's homecoming game in Ripon. The Vikings hold the edge with 14 victories as compared to 10 for Ripon.

Advance predictions give the odds to Ripon a team which has played erratic football this season, starting impressively with a 12 to 0 victory over the University of Chicago reserves, and slumping to a 31 to 0 defeat by Carroll college, Waukesha, last Saturday. Lawrence has won a single game this season—that from Lake Forest. Beloit, Carroll, college, Marquette and Oshkosh Normal hold victories over the Vikings.

Carroll, state collegiate champion and as yet undefeated in Wisconsin, meets Lombard at Waukesha. Last year Coach Armstrong's eleven lost to the Illinois team 19 to 6.

Oppositions are set to meet Saturday at the University of Wisconsin Saturday afternoon.

Head and shoulders above the rest stands the undefeated University of Wisconsin's inter-sectional contest with the University of Alabama, set for Randall stadium Saturday afternoon. The game will mark the first since 1912 that the Cardinal of Wisconsin has flaunted in an inter-sectional game. That year the undefeated Western champions easily defeated the University of Arkansas 64 to 7.

Coincident with the inter-sectional tilt tomorrow, the last time the Badgers engaged in such a game, they were undefeated, as they are Friday. However, the 1928 record is marred by a tie game with Purdue which, if they continue undefeated, may win Western conference title recognition.

Alabama's Crimson Tide comes to Madison more afraid of cold weather than of the prowess of the Cardinals. Coach Wallace Wade's southerners are bushy, the line averaging six feet in eight and 200 pounds in weight. A crowd of more than 20,000 persons, including Gov. Bibb Graves of Alabama and his party, are expected to witness the game.

Columbus, O.—Football, that will be built and reid for Ohio State university's gigantic stadium, is to be utilized during the next ten years to finance a $1,750,000 physical education, recreation and athletic building program at the university.

Announcement of the program was made last night after a meeting of the university athletic board.

The program calls for the erection of five new buildings and the enclosure of the sides of the stadium with steel and glass. The stadium improvements will cost approximately $1,000,000 and will be made first.

GET HANDS UP, GEORGE!
The little manager of the champion Yankees said his greatest thrill in the late world series came when George Pipgras escaped the second inning and it would have been the end of George, he said.

It will be recalled that Pipgras had a tough time getting started, that the players gave a massed demonstration of their disapproval. It looked for a moment as if they were going to force Huggins to make a change.

"I kept telling and signalling Pipgras to get his arms up high but he wouldn't do it," Huggins said. "He was wild in the first inning but he struck out Hasey with two on and got by. He went bad again in the second inning and they got three runs and tied the score on a couple of hits, a pass and an error. One more hit and I would have jerked him, but he finally got his arms up around his neck and started pitching. They got only two hits off him after that. It gave me my greatest thrill when he started working like I knew he could."

GENE ROSE BACK IN BADGER LINEUP

Madison Folk Expect to Hold Big Pep Session Friday Night

Madison (AP) — When the south meets the north Saturday on historic Camp Randall, scene of a Civil war camp ground, Wisconsin will be able to put its strongest front before the Alabama team, which invades the Western conference for the first time.

Gene Rose, Racine half back, who was dropped for disciplinary reasons with Joe Kresky Oct. 20, returned and was at Thursday night's practice. Kresky was reinstated last Monday.

In the face of a cold, drizzling rain the Badgers went through their last workout before the game Saturday and had a long offensive scrimmage against freshman teams. Several new plays were tried and "Red" Davidson, Detroit sophomore half back, and "Bo" Cusimini, quarterback, made several dazzling runs.

Madison was on edge Friday as plans for the largest pep session in several years were completed. More than 3,000 students, alumni and townspersons are expected to be at the session which will be held Friday night.

Reports in Madison Friday said that Coach Wallace Wade and 31 of his Alabama warriors left Thursday noon for Madison. They were to arrive Friday and work out in Randall stadium. The reports said that a monster pep session Wednesday night, Coach Wade promised that his team would do their utmost to make their first Big Ten visit a victory for Alabama.

Governor Babb Graves and a party was accompanying the team north. Tuscaloosa and university were said to be placarded with "Beat Wisconsin" signs.

The Badger B's took an easy workout in preparation for their game at Watertown Friday at Northwestern college.

85,000 Expected To See Wolves Comeback

Intersectional Games Hold Spotlight at Ohio, Chi- cago, U. W.

Chicago — Win or lose, Michigan backs its football team.

Although the Wolverines have lost four straight games — the worst football record in Michigan's history — more than 85,000 spectators will watch their attempt comeback Saturday when they clash with Illinois at Ann Arbor.

Upwards of 75,000 will watch the duel between the Buckeyes and Princeton Saturday, while approximately 40,000 are expected to attend the Wisconsin-Alabama tussle in creating as much excitement locally as any Big Ten game on the Wisconsin schedule.

The many reports of the Dixie team's strength have set the Badger rooters on edge.

About 50 scouts from this vicinity will be among those at the Badger game. The boys will leave for Madison Saturday in cars.

PEST WELCH LIKES TO HIT 'EM HARD

LaFayette, Ind. — Most football players who are backfield performers admit they get their greatest pleasure from carrying the ball. In that, "Pest" Welch of Purdue is different.

"I get more fun out of making a good tackle than anything else," he commented recently in his Texas drawl.

"Take that Purdue-Indiana game last year. I had more fun in that than I ever had in a football game before. The reason is I made a lot of tackles and that's what I like. I like to nail 'em!"

WILDCAT PLAGUE IN SCOT- LAND

The worst plague of wildcats ever known in the Highlands of Scotland is causing much damage and trouble.

The cats, which are of a slate color with tracings of the markings of the tiger, fight fiercely when cornered by men sent to shoot them. A keeper of an estate on Ben Alder, near Dalwhinnie, has shot at least 30 this season and his fellowkeeper 32. "One has to shoot to kill at once or be prepared for immediate attack," a keeper said. "They fight with the ferocity of a tiger. Several times if I had made the least mistake I should have been mauled badly."

The number of the animals increased greatly during the World War.

STARS AS PRO GRIDIRON

"Wild Bill" Kelly, two years ago a star with Montana State, is playing quarterback and halfback for the New York Yankees. He's one of the big attractions of pro football.

BOY SCOUTS TO SEE BADGERS-TIDE BATTLE

Madison — One thousand or more Boy Scouts will be in the stands Saturday to witness the colorful intersectional clash between Wisconsin and Alabama. Some time ago the Badger athletic officials set aside this important game as "Boy Scouts Day."

All of the youngsters have been invited to attend as guests of Director George Little and Coach Glenn Thistlethwaite. The Cardinal-Alabama tussle is creating as much excitement locally as any Big Ten game on the Wisconsin schedule.

The many reports of the Dixie team's strength have set the Badger rooters on edge.

Our Presidents

President Coolidge, toward the close of his present term, while spending a vacation in the Dakotas, stirred up no end of comment by his famous statement, "I do not choose to run," after he was asked by reporters if he would be a candidate for a third term. President Coolidge refused to amplify his statement and many interpretations were placed upon the words.

By NEA. Through Special Permission of the Publishers of The Book of Knowledge. Copyright 1923-26

Shortly before the conventions to nominate new candidates opened this year, the president reiterated his oft-quoted words.

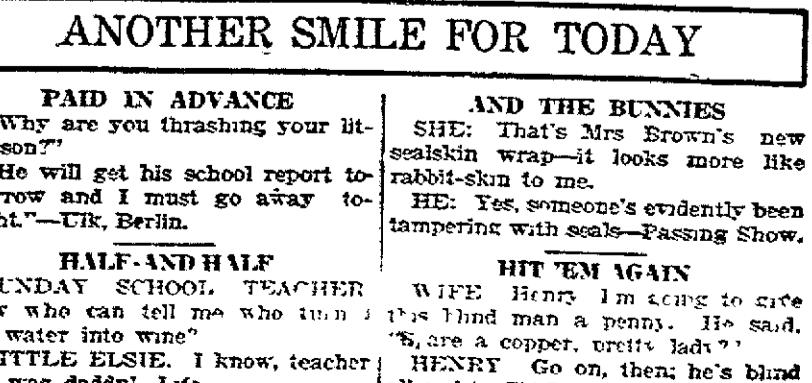

One important event of the Coolidge administration was Secretary Kellogg's pact with foreign nations to outlaw war.

Sketches and Synopses.

The Democrats, at Houston, nominated Al Smith as their candidate; the Republicans, at Kansas City, chose Herbert Hoover, and the two men started their campaign to be the thirtieth president of the United States. Smith rose from the streets of New York to become his state's governor; Hoover came up to the president's cabinet from the cornfields of Iowa.

MAY MARK KAUKAUNA
BUILDING ROOF AS
GUIDE TO AVIATORSInstructions for Project Are Received by Postmaster
Adolph Mill

Kaukauna.—Postmaster Adolph Mill received a letter from Harry F. Guggenheim, president of the Daniel Guggenheim Fund for the Promotion of Aeronautics, Inc., in New York, asking him to start organizing a project to have the city marked for air identification on some building. It is a nationwide project and every postmaster has been informed of the plans.

It is considered a step forward in the line of air travel, and was suggested to the association by Col. Charles Lindbergh, and the city that complies to the plan will receive a personally signed certificate of appreciation from him. The plan is said to add to the safety, speed, and reliability of air transportation.

The letter also included plans in detail for the project with a list of instructions. It tells of the best type of building to be used for the purpose. The name of the town should be painted chrome yellow or white on a dull or black background. Letters should be from 10 to 20 feet in length.

Colonel Lindbergh helped lay out the details of the project and is in hearty support of it, the letter stated. Many cities have already identified their towns by painting the name in large letters on some large high building.

GUNNERS SET PACE IN LEGION BOWLING LOOP

Kaukauna.—The Machine Gunners lead the Legion Bowling league with five wins and one loss, and will probably hold their lead as they bowl the Infantry Friday evening on the Hilgenberg Alleys. The Infantry is tied with the Navy for last place.

In the 7 o'clock shift the Signal Corps will roll against the S. O. S. and the Machine Gunners against the Infantry. In the 9 o'clock shift the Navy versus the Engineers and the Artillery versus the Aviation team.

SCHOOL CLASSES WILL ORGANIZE DEBATE TEAMS

Kaukauna.—In order to get material for the high school debate team, each class in the school will have a negative and an affirmative debate team and the school debate team will be chosen from these class teams. The class debate teams will be coached by the class advisors, and the high school team will be coached by Miss Lucile Smith.

The team will discuss the same question that will be assigned to the school team. The school team will be organized about the last of the year.

HOLY CROSS GRIDDERS
DEFEAT ONEIDA, 48-0

Kaukauna—Holy Cross parochial school football team trounced over the Oneida school football team by the overwhelming score of 48 to 0. The plucky little Holy Cross team scored at will over the inexperienced Oneida team. Holy Cross has won eight games this season, and has lost only one game to St. Peter Catholic high school in Menasha. The team is coached by the Rev. P. J. Melchoirs.

KAU DRAMA CLUB WILL PRESENT FIRST PLAY

Kaukauna—The Kau Drama club of the local high school will present its first play in the public library Monday evening. The Florist Shop is the name of the play, which has five characters. It will be given for the school students. Miss Lucile Smith directed the play. Dress rehearsals will be held in the library Saturday evening. The cast includes Miss Alice Balch as Maud, Herman Maas as Mr. Stovksy, Wilbert Dern as Henry, Leo Rabideau as Mr. Jackson, and Miss Loraine Hoolihan as Miss Wells.

The play was given as a declamation last year by Miss Loretta Smith, and it proved popular with the students.

POSTAL RECEIPTS ARE SAME AS LAST YEAR

Kaukauna—Postal receipts for the first nine months of this year are almost the same as the first nine months of last year, according to Postmaster Adolph Mill. Receipts showed the sum of $14,870.18 for the nine months in 1927 and the receipts for the first nine months in 1928 are $18,326.26. Although the totals are about the same, there was a difference in time when paid in. In the summer there was a lull but since August there has been a steady increase. In August of this year there was an increase of $100 and in September there was an increase over September of last year of $300.

The Post-Crescent's representative at Kaukauna is Lloyd Derns. His telephone number is 194-W. Business with The Post-Crescent may be transacted through Mr. Derns.

SCHOOL STUDENTS
HOLD PEP SESSIONFootball Team Will Play
Final Conference Game
With Shawano

Kaukauna—Students of the local high school held a big pep session at the auditorium Thursday afternoon in preparation for the final conference game with Shawano Saturday afternoon. The game will decide whether Kaukauna will again be the champions of the Northeastern Interscholastic conference this year.

Kaukauna will play only one game after the Shawano tilt Saturday, and that will be with its old time rival, Appleton. This is expected to be the hardest game of the year. The game with Shawano will be played in this city as will the Appleton game.

If Kaukauna wins the conference championship they will have a clean record of five wins and no losses. Last year the team had four wins and one tie. They tied Oconto in the first conference game of the season. This year the team beat Oconto by a large score.

Coach Elmer Ott is having light practices so there won't be much chance for injuries. The team was hampered with this jinx all season, and he wants the team in the pink of condition when it plays Appleton.

Principals Kluth and family and Miss Mabel Nock visited at New London Sunday.

WORLD FAMED TENOR
WILL SING CONCERT
HERE ON NOVEMBER 9

Edward Johnson Studied
Under Professor Who Tutored Caruso

Edward Johnson, who will appear in Appleton Friday evening, Nov. 9, as the first number of the Community Artist Series, is a self-made artist. Born in Guelph, Canada, Mr. Johnson left home because of his parent's objection to his choice of singing as a career, and soon secured a position as choir boy in a Presbyterian church in New York. Devoting much time to study he made rapid progress and after several concert tours of the United States and Canada he suddenly disappeared.

Soon after there appeared in Italy, Eduardo di Giovanni, tenor extraordinary and pupil of Lombardi, who had taught Caruso. Two years under Lombardi and Mr. Johnson made his debut at Padua, in 1912. So perfect was his Italian diction that even the patrons of La Scala thought he was an Italian.

HEARD ABROAD
Since then England, Canada and America have paid homage to his great art and talents. Returning to America in 1920, Mr. Johnson has since sung in almost every city of the United States in opera or concert. He joined the Metropolitan Opera company in 1921, after having sung with the Chicago Civic Opera Association. In London, with Dame Nellie Melba, he scored an outstanding success.

Mr. Johnson's career has been meteoric and colorful. He has created more leading roles than any tenor now singing on the operatic stage, the most recent being the leading role in the great American opera The King's Henchman.

There is spontaneity, a sincerity, a fineness and an intelligence to Edward Johnson's art that constantly increase its brilliancy. Whether in opera, oratorio, concert or recital Mr. Johnson is an artist who is always a pleasure to hear, a singer of whom any country might well be proud.

STATE GIVES NAMES OF PURE FOOD-LAW BREAKERS

MADISON—(P)—The state dairy and food department has taken a new policy in the prevention of adulteration, misbranding and impurities of food, choosing from now on to make public the names of persons and firms convicted following prosecutions by the department.

Previously these names were simply filed away in the department records, but C. J. Kremer has decided to prepare an occasional list of the convicted violators for the newspapers, publication of which is calculated to serve as a warning to others who might commit the same misdemeanors.

The most recent arrests and convictions resulted in fines up to $50 and costs. Rubin Derr, Argyle, and Frank Costello, Monroe, were fined for adulterated milk, and H. Nehring, Fond du Lac suffered a penalty of $2.85 and costs for selling soda water containing benzene of soda as a preservative.

In another Fond du Lac case, the Kress company was convicted of the same offense.

Saler Bros., Milwaukee, were fined for failing to keep proper cold storage records and Emery Schultz, Monroe, was penalized for offering skimmed milk for sale as milk. E. H. Dretzka, Milwaukee, was fined for selling chopped meats containing sulphites, used as preservatives.

MASTER BUILDER IS

New Discoveries Reduce Deaths From Diabetes

MADISON—Diabetes is being robbed of its record of fatalities. Discoveries in the past few years have brought forth new methods of treatment which makes it possible to control the disease in a large majority of cases. People with the disease no longer need despair. Two important announcements of the causes are made by the educational committee of the State Medical Society of Wisconsin this week:

First, diabetes among children is usually the result of colds and bad tonsils. Improvement immediately comes with the removal of the causes.

Second, the most common cause of diabetes among people over 30 years is due to excessive weight. Care in exercise and eating will obviate these causes.

"Diabetes has been a disease of fascination to both the physician and his patient for many years and still most people know nothing more about it than the occurrence of sugar in the urine," says the bulletin. "The sugar in the urine is not the chief thing which occurs in diabetes but it is usually the cause of the patient's visit to his physician. The mind: 'What is the trouble in diabetes?' It is now possible to state it rather briefly. Just behind the stomach is a small gland, the pancreas, one of the duties of which is to make a constant supply of insulin. If the supply of insulin is inadequate the body is unable to use as much sugar as it ought to. This inadequate supply of insulin is the characteristic feature of diabetes.

"All the foods which we eat, whether sweet or not, either contain sugar or allow the body to make sugar to waste. It is literally true that an individual with diabetes is starving in spite of his continual eating of food."

"To make up for the deficiency in insulin production of some humans, insulin is now extracted from the pancreas of the animals in the slaughter house and from this extract purified solutions are prepared which are available through the drug stores. These extracts are very powerful but still they can be used with an extreme degree of exactness. It is possible to determine just how much insulin the diabetic patient needs to go with the definitely measured diet and therefore to keep such a patient in perfect condition for any length of time. Insulin is not like any drug obtained from other sources than the animal body. It is purely a replacement of material which is lacking in the patient's body.

"No cure for diabetes has yet been found, but when modern treatment is constantly followed, the diabetic remains to all intents perfectly well."

NOW IS TIME TO PLANT BULBS FOR SPRING FLOWERS

When the frost is on the pumpkins and the corn is turning brown, that is the time to plant winter bulbs such as tulips and other flowers which make their appearance in the early spring, shortly after the snow has disappeared, according to local flower fanciers. Darwin tulips that bloom the last week in May or thereabouts, and breeder tulips that flower a week later should be planted now. The latter are of odd shapes, bronze, mahogany, gold and terra cotta shades.

The bulbs should have had ample time to dry and should have been sorted according to colors and sizes. It is possible that in some sections of the country where the land is low, that it is too late to do planting because frost has already entered the ground. In such cases they should be planted deeper and the ground in which they are planted should be properly covered with leaves.

Peonies in many sections of the country are set out in the fall but are best in this territory if planted in April, florists say. The perennials and ornamental shrubs also grow best when planted in early spring. Rhubarb, lilies and similar flowers will not endure this climate and should be put in with perennials.

ROAD DEPARTMENT
SEES BIG PROGRAM
OF SNOW REMOVALTwo New Truck Plows and
More Snow Fence Will Be Purchased

Neenah—Winnebago-co highway department is making extensive plans to carry on the program of winter snow removal on its county and trunk highways this year. The highway committee will probably act Nov. 8 to order purchase of two or more new truck plows, it was stated Thursday at the highway office. More than 1,000 feet of metal panel snow fencing costing about $240 has been already ordered to take place of wood fences used in the past.

The present plowing equipment includes three tractor plows and five truck plows. Tractor plows, it has been found, are too slow—except in extreme cases. The plan of snow removal this year will follow that of last year, when snow removal cost $7,000. There was a balance in the snow removal fund on Oct. 31, 1927, of $9,484.57. This was augmented by an appropriation of $6,000, leaving a balance of $7,482.21 in the fund at the present time, subtracting the cost of removal last season from the total available money, $14,434.87.

NEENAH
SOCIETY

Neenah—A matinee dance was held Friday afternoon at Kimberly high school gymnasium following a booster meeting in the auditorium to arouse pep for the Saturday football game with Two Rivers.

Past Matrons' club of the Eastern Star was entertained Wednesday afternoon by Mrs. John Hercher at her home on Sixth-st. A luncheon was served at 1 o'clock followed by bridge. Prizes were won by Miss Mabel Williams, Mrs. J. B. Schneller, and Mrs. C. B. T. Hutchins.

Neenah club will hold an election night party Tuesday evening at the club rooms on E. Wisconsin-ave, at which elections returns will be received by wire and radio. A supper will complete the evening's program.

A group of people called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Gley, Abey-ave, Thursday evening to assist Mr. Gley to celebrate his birthday anniversary. The evening was spent playing schaakoff. Prizes were won by John Clark, John Jagerson, and Mrs. A. Jagerson.

Fraternal Reserve association will meet Friday evening for an open installation of newly elected officers, at Danish Brotherhood hall. After the work a lunch will be served, followed by dancing.

Danish Lutheran church congregation served its annual harvest supper Friday evening at the church dining room.

Miss Viola Huebner entertained at a Halloween party Wednesday evening at the Bustein home on E. Wisconsin-ave. The evening was spent playing bridge. Prizes were won by Miss Elfreda Blom, Miss Anna Bergman and Miss Meta Wolf.

130 ARE REGISTERED
IN EVENING SCHOOL

Neenah—A total of 130 pupils were registered Oct. 21 at the night school conducted at Kimberly high school in connection with the vocational department, according to a report submitted by Carl Christensen, superintendent of vocational work. This is a gain of 32 pupils since the first of the month. In the chemistry for nurse class there are 11 pupils; foods, 12; clothing, 8; bookkeeping, 9; typewriting, 26; English, 20; drafting, 11; cabinet making, 25, and shorthand, 8.

Sessions of evening school next week will be conducted on Monday and Tuesday evenings instead of Monday and Thursday, as is the rule, owing to the state teachers convention at Milwaukee the latter part of the week. The meeting of the industrial board scheduled for Thursday evening was not held, as a quorum was not present.

HEALTH BOARD OFFICIAL
HIGH SCHOOL SPEAKER

Neenah—Dr. V. A. Duder of the state board of health addressed the pupils of Kimberly high school at 8:15 Friday morning during a general assembly. He spoke on health methods and the manner of carrying them to success. The doctor also spoke at the several grade schools during the day.

BLOHM IS ELECTED
EAGLE VICE-PRESIDENT

Neenah—William Blohm was elected vice president of Neenah Aerie of Eagles Thursday evening at the regular meeting to fill the vacancy caused by resignation of Alcyous Jung. It was decided to hold the class initiation on Dec. 13 instead of next week as was at first planned, as the remodeling of the eagle hall has been completed.

ALL SQUAD MEMBERS OUT FOR FOOTBALL PRACTICE

Neenah—Practice for the last home football game was conducted Friday afternoon by the high school squad at Citizens' Field, every member of the squad turning out for the final work in preparation for the game Saturday afternoon with Two Rivers. Coach Ole Jorgenson has secured Zusman and Pickett of Appleton as officials for the game which will start at 3 p.m.

MEDINA MAN ARRESTED ON BAD CHECK CHARGE

Neenah—Harold Grant of Medina was arrested Thursday at Appleton on a charge of issuing a worthless check for $200 in favor of Larson brothers at Larson. The preliminary hearing was set for 10 o'clock Saturday morning Nov. 10, before Justice Jensen. The check was issued some time ago, it is alleged, was given a chance to make good but has failed to do so. The warrant was issued by Justice Jensen and the young man was apprehended by Outagamie-co. sheriff on request of Neenah police authorities.

VENEERS, ASSEMBLERS
LEAD BOWLING LEAGUE

Neenah—Several clean sweeps occurred Thursday night in the Hardwood Products league matches at Neenah alleys. Veneers and Assemblers each won three from the Sanders and Desk Birds. Finishers also swept three games from the Productions. Engineers won the odd game from the Machines and the Gluers won the odd game from the Shippers.

Hans Magnusen rolled high single game, 244, and also collected a nice series, 630. Peter Clausen rolled second high series, 626 and Veneers high team game on a 1051 count.

MARINES SPREAD NET IN NICARAGUAN POLL

Managua, Nicaragua.—(P)—An elaborate system of checking, cross-checking and strict verification of all votes cast in the forthcoming Nicaragua elections, has been arranged by Brigadier General Frank R. McCoy and his United States marine election board.

After the votes have been cast, the marine in charge of the polling place will take the ballot box to the nearest department capital himself. The regulations forbid him to entrust it to any Nicaraguan. As soon as the polls close, the marine will count the ballots in the presence of the liberal and conservative members of the board, return them to the ballot box, padlock it, and keep the box in his own possession until he turns it over to the department board.

This board, the chairman of which is an American officer, will recount the ballots and rule on protests by members of either party. Dissatisfied voters may appeal still further to the National Board, of which Brigadier General Frank R. McCoy is chairman. The decision of the National board is final.

Professor James L. Mursell, professor of education at Lawrence college, will read a paper on Curriculum problems in the Collegiate Department of Education at the state teacher's convention Nov. 8 at Milwaukee.

DAMMANN AND HUBER FILE CAMPAIGN COSTS

Madison.—(P)—Further filings of expense statements for candidates in the secretary of state's office, today, brought the accounts of Henry A. Huber, lieutenant-governor, and Theodore Dammann, secretary of state, both candidates for re-election.

Mr. Huber reported spending $7,81, after having repeated his report of $7,67, spent in the primary.

Mr. Dammann showed "previously expended $1,344.75 and donations to date of $69.85, all of which went to Charles M. Dow, for the campaign committee. Receipts previously reported he said were $353 and previous to the general election the only donation was from a friend for $45.00.

Nathan Glicksman, candidate for elector, reported paying $50 to the Democratic county committee, Milwaukee, and $200 to the Wisconsin state central committee.

Peter J. Smith, candidate for state senator, reported spending $77.50 and George Mensing, candidate for attorney general, reported no expenditures.

DANE-CO STUDIES CASES OF CRIPPLED CHILDREN

Madison.—(P)—In a survey recently made in rural sections of Dane-co the cases of 93 crippled children were studied by representatives of the state association for the disabled.

It was found that 16 children were in need for the supervision of a special class, for the physical and mental development. Interviews are being had now with the parents of the city children so afflicted, to determine how many others might be eligible for enrollment in special classes for crippled children. Madison already has one class room and physiotherapy room. At completion of the survey the crippled children's aid group anticipates that it will be necessary to have three school rooms and a gymnasium for the children.

Miss Marguerite Lison, executive secretary for the association for the disabled, gave these reports and those of other cities in the states.

"I'VE FOUND RIGHT MEDICINE AT LAST" SAYS MRS. MYERS

St. Paul Woman Didn't Believe Any Medicine on Earth Could Do For Her What Sargon Has Done.

"If anyone had told me a month ago that any medicine would do for me what Sargon has done, I wouldn't have believed them", said Mrs. William Myers, of 558 South Concord St., South St. Paul, a few days ago in relating her experience with the medicine.

"For five years", continued Mrs. Myers, "I suffered from stomach trouble, indigestion and extreme nervousness. I had no appetite and hardly knew what it was to eat a real meal. Often when I forced myself to eat a little something I would suffer for hours afterward with indigestion and sour stomach.

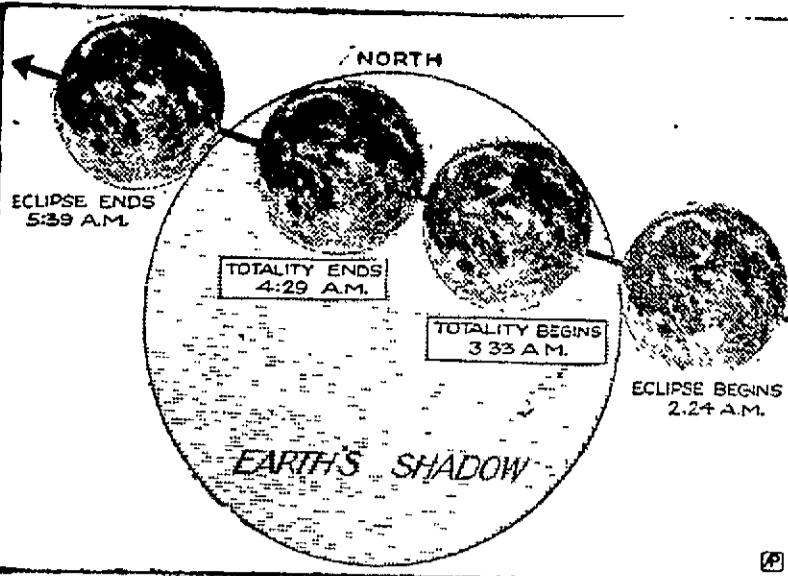

"I had dreadful attacks of headache, and frequently had weak nervous spells. I rarely ever got a good night's rest. My sleep was mostly in cat-naps, and the least noise would awaken me. Mornings I felt tired before I started my housework.

"Before I had finished my first visit of Sargon I realized that I had found the right medicine at last. I now eat and enjoy three meals of substantial food every day without feeling any the worse from it. My husband jokingly remarked the other day that if my appetite kept up like it was now I would soon eat him out of house and home."

"My digestion is perfect now, and I am no longer troubled with gas and sour stomach. My nerves are in perfect condition now, and I sleep like a child. I now begin the day feeling bright and cheerful, and my housework instead of being a burden, is a pleasure to me. The headaches and weak spells have entirely disappeared. I have gained five pounds, and feel wonderfully strengthened and helped in every way.

"Sargon has done more for me than all the other medicines I have taken put together. I never intend to be without it as long as I live." Sargon may be obtained in Appleton.—Adv.

Eclipse Of Moon Will Occur On November 27

BY ROBERT H. BAKER

Urbana, Ill.—(P)—A total eclipse of the moon will occur November 27 early in the morning. It will be visible from beginning to end everywhere in the United States.

The moon will enter the earth's shadow at 2:44 a. m. eastern standard time. Total eclipse begins at 3:33 and lasts until 4:29 o'clock, when the moon begins to emerge. At 5:39 a. m. the eclipse will be over. Central times are one hour earlier, mountain times two hours and Pacific times three hours.

Although the moon will be entirely within the shadow for nearly an hour, it probably will not disappear from view. The reason is that considerable sunlight is refracted into the shadow through the ring of the earth's atmosphere around the base of the shadow.

The moon at that time will be dim and noticeably red like the setting sun. Usually dark eclipses accompany stormy conditions all around the shadow base. The brightest ones occur when no clouds are there to stop the light. Mixed conditions give a spotted appearance to the eclipsed moon.

While a lunar eclipse does not much effect us on the earth, it would be a serious matter if we lived on the moon. Recent observations of the temperature of the moon's surface drops from 170 degrees Fahrenheit immediately before the eclipse of 190 degrees below zero.

A drop of 360 degrees in an hour or two is a cold wave no one would care to observe at close quarters. Of course, no one lives on the moon, for it is airless and entirely barren.

It is the absence of atmospheric protection that permits the sudden change of temperature. During the long lunar night the cold is even more intense; a thermometer at the surface would register not higher than 250 degrees below zero.

The earth's conical shadow stretches nearly a million miles into space. On a screen placed at the moon's distance from us the shadow

KOHLER PROMISES UTILITIES CHANGE IF NEED IS FOUND

Nominee Says Responsibility for Situation Rests With Progressives

Kenosha.—(P)—If the interim committee named by the last legislature to investigate public utilities finds conditions which require a change, the governor and legislature must take immediate action to correct the situation, Walter J. Kohler, Republican candidate for governor, said in an address here Thursday night.

"Responsibility for the situation as it is today rests on the political oligarchy which has monopolized public office in Wisconsin," the speaker said. "Power rates in the state are determined under control of a commission created and manned by members of this political oligarchy." Repeated opportunity has presented itself in the past to protect the power resources of Wisconsin and preserve them for the people to whom they belong, and yet nothing has been done."

Mr. Kohler explained that the interim committee was to assemble definite information representing water power development in Wisconsin and to study government owned and operated plants in Canada.

"A careful study should also be made of the valuation upon which public utility rates are based, and legislation should be enacted to protect fully, not only the public interest of the small security holders," the candidate said.

Emphasis was placed by the speaker on the importance of solving the problem on the basis of "facts and facts only." He warned that an open-minded attitude must be kept in studying the findings of the committee.

CHURCH SOCIETY TO PRESENT PLAY

Sodality Will Offer Mystery Drama at St. Joseph Hall Nov. 11 and 12

Mysterious rappings, stealthy foot-steps in the halls at night, "spooks" and thrills galore abound in the three-act mystery drama "The House of a Thousand Thrills," which will be presented by a cast of 11 players at St. Joseph hall on Nov. 11 and 12.

The play is being sponsored by St. Joseph Young Ladies sodality and is being directed by Henry Jung.

The Long Island country house of the wealthy and eccentric Mrs. Rachel Carlton, played by Miss Regina Wenneker, becomes a place of mystery and terror and acting on the theory that someone is attempting to steal a valuable string of Mr. Carlton's emeralds, David Arden, a young mystery story author, is called in to investigate. Ralph Everts plays this role.

Miss Mona Carlton, is the big mystery of the play. She has a decided gift for sleuthing and takes a big part in solving the mystery. Miss Cecile Haag plays the part. Efforts to find a solution of the mysterious occurrences are hampered by Serena

RUN OVER BY TRACTOR, BUT MAN IS RECOVERING

The condition of Norman Pops, Potter, who was run over by a 5,000 pound tractor on the Henry Winkholz farm, route 3, Hilbert, Wednesday morning, is very encouraging, according to his physician. X-rays revealed a separation of the pelvic bones, but no fractures. However, he will be kept under observation for a week or ten days.

Pope, who was thrown from the seat of the tractor by a jolt as he released the clutch, was saved from more serious injury by the heavy clothing he was wearing.

Carlton, played by Miss Hilda Kitzinger, the old lady's unmarried daughter and by the plottings of two other grandchildren Agnes and Ronald McEvilley, played by Miss Hazel Hamm and George Thelss. Following is the full cast of characters:

THE END OF THE TRAIL

So far as the outcome is concerned the campaign is finished. If the vote were taken today it would be essentially the same as it will be next Tuesday. The people have made up their mind and the die is cast. Whether Mr. Hoover or Mr. Smith goes into the White house, and whatever his administration of the government may be, the nation will go along in much the same way. If mistakes are made, they will be rectified, and we do not count the cost. We live and learn. Contrasts are generally useful. They afford a good measuring stick to determine what is sound and unsound, what is true progress and what is not. Whoever is elected will provide the United States with an interesting experience.

Gov. Smith has conducted a colorful and strategic campaign. It carries us back to the militancy of Bryan; in some respects there is an analogy, not in the men themselves but in the atmosphere and political psychology. Gov. Smith has made a wide popular appeal and has proved himself to be the most skillful campaigner of modern times. He has attacked the Republican party relentlessly and effectively and although some of his language and methods have not been above criticism from one offering himself for the presidency, they may perhaps be defended on the partisan ground that all is fair in love and politics. Even if he should not be elected he has stirred the country to its depths and has forced a normally apathetic electorate to a searching and wholesome analysis of government and political action. His service in this respect has been invaluable. As president he would undoubtedly continue this service.

Mr. Hoover has handled his campaign along wholly different lines. It has not been a campaign to stir the emotions or arouse feeling. It has not gotten to the individual anything like Gov. Smith's sallies and has lacked the spectacular. He has had very little to say about the Democrat party or its nominee. Only once or twice has he given Gov. Smith the satisfaction of a close sword exchange. Mr. Hoover has gone his way sawing wood with his customary directness and his speeches have invariably offered a constructive program and positive policy. He has kept his head, ignoring the many false tales spread against him. He has displayed great restraint and force of character and in every way has measured up to the best traditions of a presidential candidate. He has gone through a heated campaign without a scar and has left none.

This newspaper sees no reason, now that the battle is over, to change its original opinion that Mr. Hoover will make the better president. Platform declarations are of minor consequence in this election when put up against the personalities of the candidates. They have made their own issues. It may not be wholly accurate, but it is not far from the facts to say that Gov. Smith has tried to prove himself a better Republican than the Republicans themselves in matters of federal policy. Prohibition may be excepted, but Gov. Smith himself has ruled this question out as a paramount issue and it ought to be so treated.

We entertain no partisan prejudice toward Gov. Smith, nor will we deprecate his high personal qualities and his ability, his fine courage and frankness. He is above all things a fighter and has a distinguished record as governor of New York. He would make a good president provided he could handle the Democrat party and cause it to follow his leadership. One must admit, however, that during the last fifty years the greater political genius, with the exception of a few conspicuous leaders like Cleveland and Wilson, and now Smith, has been in the Republican party and that its policies in the main have been sound and are responsible for the high development of our institutions and our outstanding national prosperity.

Certain facts stand out. The country undeniably is prosperous, more prosperous than it has ever been. There are spots and industries which are not prosperous, but it has always been so. A nation with an automobile to every five persons is prosperous beyond the conception of any other country of the world. American consuming power in the world scale is staggering. The fiscal affairs of the government were never better. Debt reduction goes on apace, along with tax reduction. The economies of the Coolidge administration are real and not imaginary. The Democrats will not handle the treasury better than it is being handled. They may not impair prosperity, but there is no reason to believe they will increase it beyond what the Republicans would.

The agricultural problem is a muddle. The contribution of stump orators is a barrage of words. It calls for real statesmanship, not political quackery. The McNary-Haugen bill in our judgment was as fallacious a scheme as free silver. The country needs less of bureaucracy, not more. The campaign issues are almost wholly economic. We think Mr. Hoover with his great knowledge of economics is better qualified to carry the complicated and difficult farm question to a successful solution. Certainly Gov. Smith with his urban background and experience would never have been selected as a farm expert, nor has his handling of the subject as a campaign issue been satisfactory.

The protective tariff is firmly imbedded in our political economy. It has suffered abuses, but the correctness of the policy is unquestioned. It has made the United States what it is industrially. Gov. Smith promises to cure abuses. We believe his intentions are good, but he would have to do it under a Democrat congress, and Democrats are quite as much given to log-rolling as Republicans. The Democrats are only in this campaign converted to the protective principle, and even now they talk of a "competitive" tariff. This is a term of wide latitude. A bona fide tariff commission is a real need. The tariff should be taken out of politics, but when it is done it must not be at the expense of adequate protection. Reform and revision must be undertaken with great care and skill. It is probably not an over-statement to say that Mr. Hoover understands commerce and international trade better than any other man, a matter of first importance in tariff making and to our national well-being.

On waterway development we very much prefer Mr. Hoover. Gov. Smith lives in a portion of the country where the need of internal waterways is not fully recognized. He has opposed and condemned the St. Lawrence seaway. To be sure it was a sectional opposition, but he still believes the New York barge canal offers the better route for a Great Lakes outlet to the sea. This improvement is of vital concern to 40,000,000 people of the Midwest and Northwest. It is more important than any single issue of direct government participation. It is vastly more important economically than the Panama canal. The Mid-continent wants the St. Lawrence seaway, realization of which will work a profound change in its industrial and agricultural status. Mr. Hoover has been for this route throughout, has had much to do with the preparatory study and negotiation and he is a forceful advocate of and firm believer in all waterway development. This there is reason to believe is why certain railway executives are opposing him. We think the St. Lawrence project will make greater headway and stand a better chance of consummation under Hoover than under Smith.

The water power controversy is more hectic than real. The United States is not going to turn over federal water power sites to private interests under one candidate any more than under the other, nor is it going to lose control over them. Mr. Hoover's attitude toward power development is sound. Gov. Smith could not in practice go further, unless he believes in government operation, and this he has not done.

In the field of labor Gov. Smith could not if he would offer anything more than Mr. Hoover did in his Newark speech. It was the most advanced and enlightened labor policy ever enunciated by a man in public life. We doubt if even Mr. Gompers himself could have improved upon it. Every laboring man should read it whether he votes for Smith or Hoover. Furthermore, as a humanitarian Mr. Hoover has no superior. On the other hand, Mr. Smith as governor of New York in his handling of the rights of labor, in the use of his powerful influence in the advancement of sane and genuine progressive social legislation, has shown distinctive marks of real statesmanship.

For the wise conduct of foreign affairs Mr. Hoover is undeniably better equipped, both in his thorough knowledge of them and the outside world and his attitude of mind. Our tendencies here are altogether in the right direction economically and politically, needing only to be carried further. The Democrat platform, having abandoned the most important of the Wilson policies, is unacceptable on international relations. Certainly too the Republican pledge to keep the lid tightly on immigration must be endorsed.

The oil and other scandals of the Harding administration are a false alarm in this campaign. They have no more to do with Mr. Hoover than the Tammany scandals have to do with Gov. Smith. It was no more Hoover's business to denounce Fall et al. than it was Smith's to rise up and flay the corruption of Tammany Hall.

This sums up the so-called issues, some of which are not issues at all. Out of the fire and smoke of campaign explosives they about cover the ground. The rest is chaff. In reality it is the candidates that matter.

Both candidates are of unblemished character. Both have high ideals and standards of social and political service. Both are incorruptible. Both are straightforward and fearless. Smith is a little more roughshod, but he does not suffer by that in popular esteem. He is far more magnetic to the rank and file than his rival, and we greatly admire his militancy. He has given the Republican party a terrible trouncing, much to its good let us hope, but despite all he has said the Democrat party is a greater burden on his back than the party Mr. Hoover is carrying. If he pulls it through he will be the third leader to do it in nearly 70 years.

Periodical changes in government are to be desired. A powerful opposition party is always desirable. We have not had enough of it in this country since the Civil war. We have had enough of Democrat rule measured by talent and policies, but not of effective opposition. Considered from that standpoint Gov. Smith's installation in the White house and the attending upheaval that would undoubtedly result might be welcome, provided of course there is sufficient justification and need for a change and that the alternative to his election would present an unsatisfactory situation. We should have plain and concrete evidence of substantial benefits in a departure from existing government. These it does not seem to us are visible.

If present administration can go forward under capable, progressive and responsible leadership, we think the country's interests are better promoted and its destinies better safeguarded. In the person of Herbert Hoover we do not believe a stronger, more level-headed, more competent leader could have been found.

What Others Say

KOHLER IN WISCONSIN

The election of Walter Kohler, Republican, as governor of Wisconsin will put that great state ahead as no other recent political development has ever promised. The candidate is a business man of ability, of high regard for the obligations which would be undertaken, of sound judgment and of fine purposes. His understanding of the requirements of a modern state is entirely different from that of La Follette's doctrinaires under whose theories and practices the state has been threatening to impoverish itself industrially.

Mr. Kohler is not a reactionary. In the truest sense of the word that is the proper brand to put on La Follette's radicalism. In the real sense of the word Kohler is a conservative. The genius of the La Follette family died with the elder senator. In his best days and in his time, which presented vastly different problems from those of the present day, the elder La Follette could command more sincere admiration. Age did not improve his good qualities because times were changing and he was not. His death left only the sound of ideas which had become in turn reactionary because they had remained stationary.

There is nothing left of this radicalism with which the state can make any progress. Kohler with his conception of public needs is a man of modern political life. With him the state can come out of its dead past.

Adventures In The Library

A SUCCESSOR TO "MICROBE HUNTERS"

It was almost inevitable that Paul de Kruif should continue to tap the rich mine he struck in "Microbe Hunters." That fascinating book made him many friends and it is certain that the number will be greatly increased with the publication of "Hunger Fighters."

I am somewhat diffident about praising the book of a friend; the charge of log-rolling is always quickly made. Instead of the superlatives that I would use if "Hunger Fighters" were by some one unknown to me, I shall try to give an idea of what the book is like, confident that those who begin it will not fail to finish.

You remember that "Microbe Hunters" was the fascinating story of the men through the ages who have hunted and fought the germs that kill. "Hunger Fighters" is the equally fascinating story of the men who have made victory possible in man's battle against famine.

The book opens with the romance of wheat. Wheat, as De Kruif sees it, is not merely a commodity in the stock market; it is a great human drama. There are in the story all the elements of suspense and drama that a novelist could wish for in an exciting story. Wheat was not native to America. Who brought it here Americanized it and how? Brave and hardy and devoted men struggled and gave their lives to the project of pushing farther and farther back the line of frost, with reference to wheat. They went to Russia to get hardy varieties. They experimented and had lucky breaks. They clapped off a few days of the wheat's period of ripening. In the end they added millions of bushels to the wheat crop, they splashed wheat over the American continent in many states and provinces where it would not have grown without the work of these heroes.

Next comes the story of the nation's meat supply. The battle against hog cholera is as dramatic as anything I know of and it loses none of its drama in De Kruif's way of telling it. It is possible for a hundred million and more people to live upon this continent because a few men fought and suffered to guard the nation's meat supply.

The story of the hoof-and-mouth disease is, if possible, still more dramatic. Such a story, how dull it is in government reports and how it has become transformed and glorified in "Hunger Fighters."

Next in order comes the story of Indian corn, native on this continent. The "marriage" of various varieties of corn to produce one that would ripen on time and produce a large yield is a tale that some future Frank Norris will almost certainly embody in fiction. De Kruif's story is not fiction. It is fact but not prosaic fact. At times it almost becomes poetry. He has visualized these hunger fighters who worked in corn with imagination of a poet, always conscious of the drama of their seemingly prosaic lives, always on his toes to take advantage of the human incidents that enliven the story.

Lastly there is a division in the book that is called "The Hidden Hunger." It is the story of the fighters who battled a hunger that was unrecognized, one that existed in the midst of plenty. It is the story of the vitamins and lastly the story of the battle against pellagra, which has come to be recognized as a "hidden hunger."

Like "Microbe Hunters," "Hunger Fighters" is the reverse of a highbrow book. De Kruif is never afraid of colloquialisms and now and then he rips off a good saying or a cuss word. He does not stand in awe of the purists in speech any more than he stands in awe of the moguls of science. He is a hero-worshipper of men with horse sense and he writes so they can understand him.

"Hunger Fighters" is a brave book, worthy of the brave men whose lives it celebrates.

WASTAGE OF IODIN

A correspondent writing about the use of Irish moss (sea weed) as a food or relish remarks that years ago when she lived in a suburb of Boston, Mass., the people used sea weed as fertilizer for the soil. Thus I believe, food grown on the soil in that region would contain a fair quantity of iodin, and the milk of cows or goats grazing on the grass, as well as the milk of a human mother who eats freely of fruits or vegetables grown on such soil, would contain a fair quantity of iodin. My correspondent writes from her home in Idaho, where she has lived many years. There, she says, about one in every three persons shows some indication of goiter. This has been more striking to her, because there was and still is so very little goiter about her old home in Massachusetts.

The natural born antis to the practice of Dr. Goley, the famous health guardian of Rochester, N. Y., who has treated the municipal water with sodium iodid for a portion of the time for several years, was that this entailed wastage of iodin, since so much of the water is used for washing the flower or sprinkling the lawn. But at that, the total cost of the treatment is only a few thousand dollars a year, and that isn't enough, in a community as large as Rochester, to quibble about, when we consider the boon this iodin ration confers on the thousand of people who drink the water thus treated.

In a recent note here I told about scientific researches that indicate that pasteurization drives off any natural iodin the raw milk may contain, so that besides entailing the necessity of providing the infant with a regular daily ration of an iuscirv vitamin (in the form of fresh fruit or vegetable juice, or even canned tomato juice), pasteurization of the milk robs the infant of natural iodin ration, and this is a very serious deficiency which demands the careful consideration of physician and parent. Of course, if the baby gets a cod liver oil ration as all artificially fed babies should, and even some breast fed babies (if mother's own rations happen to be inadequate in this respect), it is not necessary to worry about iodin for the cod liver oil, if it is the plain, straight, fresh article.

Q. What branch of science furnishes positions for the most people? J. Y.

A. More persons are engaged in the pursuit of chemistry than in any other science. There are approximately 22,000 chemists and assistants in the United States. The teaching of chemistry in colleges and universities, in medical and other professional schools, requires a large number of the most highly trained specialists in the field, in many university departments important research is carried on. Industries for the manufacture of chemical products, foodstuffs, gases, leather, metals, paints, petroleum, photographic materials, rubber, soap, textiles, and other products maintain laboratories for the control of production, for development and for research, in which chemists are employed as analysts, research workers, department heads, and chemical engineers.

70 Attend Meeting Of Church Club

MONG the church societies which met Thursday afternoon for monthly meetings were the Ladies Aid society of Mt. Olive Lutheran church and the Ladies Aid society of First English Lutheran church.

Seventy members attended the meeting of the Ladies Aid society of Mt. Olive Lutheran church in the church basement. Mrs. H. N. Christiansen, treasurer, gave a report of the activities of the society for the previous year and Mrs. Louis Schmidt, missionary chairman, reported on the missionary work accomplished by the organization. Members of the social committee for the social hour which followed the business meeting were Mrs. William F. Mueller, Miss Lucy Scholz, Mrs. Edward Waltman, Mrs. Henry Wickman, Mrs. Robert Witt, Mrs. Frank Weinkauf, Mrs. R. E. Ziesemer and Mrs. G. D. Ziegler. The educational topic scheduled for the meeting, will be considered at the next meeting the first Thursday in December.

Mrs. William Koerner made the announcement concerning the final arrangements for the bazaar, dinner and supper, given by the Ladies Aid society of First English Lutheran church on Wednesday of next week at the church, at the meeting of the society Thursday afternoon at the church. Plans were made for two baked goods sales. The first will be given Saturday and Mrs. A. Beglinger and Mrs. R. Berrill will be in charge. The second will be conducted by Mrs. W. Maves and Mrs. J. Mielke on Nov. 17. Both sales will be held at the Ideal Photo and Gift shop. The society decided to hold a Christmas party on Wednesday, Dec. 19, at the church. Four new members were received into the society at the meeting, at which 50 members were present.

CLUB MEETINGS

The social committee of John F. Rose chapter, Order of DeMolay, of which Robert Shépherd is chairman, reported that arrangements are under way for the Spanish Dance on Nov. 24, at the meeting of the chapter Thursday night at Masonic temple. College students who are members of DeMolay will receive invitations to the party and will be guests of honor. Neighboring chapters also have been invited. Black and red will be the colors of the decoration scheme and invitations, programs and the costumes of the members of the orchestra will be in Spanish effect. The next meeting of the chapter will be Nov. 15 at which time a reception will be given for college students and the DeMolay degree will be exemplified. The initiatory degree was exemplified at the meeting Thursday night and 30 members were present.

Twenty members of Past Matrons club were entertained at a dinner at 6:30 Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Henry Brauer, Kaukauna, with Mrs. Anna Krahn as assistant hostess. A short business meeting was held after which cards were played. Honor went to Mrs. Fred Poppe and Mrs. T. A. Gallagher. The next meeting will be held the first Thursday of December.

Members of the I. D. K. club were entertained Thursday night at the home of Mrs. William Krieg, Jr., Bond-st., Neenah. Prizes at cards were won by Mrs. G. L. Chamberlain and Mrs. Charles Lansing. The meeting next Wednesday night will be at the home of Miss Ruth Lansing, First-st., Neenah.

The annual banquet of the Pythian Sisters club was held at 6:30 Thursday evening at Hotel Northland. Bridge followed the dinner and prizes were won by Mrs. C. E. Maesch, Mrs. George Schmidt and Mrs. R. J. Manser. Favors were presented to the twenty members present.

The J. F. C. club was entertained at the home of Miss Margaret Reinke, 1027 W. Packard-st. Thursday night. Six members were present and the evening was spent sewing. Miss Madeline Albrecht, 1115 W. Packard-st., will entertain the club in two weeks.

C. D. A. TO HEAR TALK ON CRIME AT NEXT MEETING

T. H. Ryan will speak on Crime at a meeting of Catholic Daughters of America at 8 o'clock Monday night at Catholic home. The address will follow a short business meeting at 7:30 at the home. Mr. Ryan has given his address before a number of the luncheon clubs of the city. He will be the first of a number of men and women, prominent in their chosen field of work, who will appear on the programs at the Catholic Daughters meetings, as a part of the educational program which the organization is sponsoring. The program will include music, art, citizenship and Biblical history.

Members of the educational committee are Mrs. Frances Cooney, chairman, Miss Mabel Burke, Miss Mary DeJong, Mrs. Grace Morgan, Mrs. Sophia Douglas, Mrs. Anna Cummings, Mrs. Lenore Tinkham, Mrs. Mary Ann Dohearty, Mrs. Anna Flanagan, Miss Clara O'Connor, Miss Anna Geenen, Miss Louise Grignon, Mrs. Margaret Rooney, Mrs. Laura Canavan, Miss Magdalene Kohl and Miss Katherine Der-

MISSION WORK DISCUSSED BY CHURCH WOMEN

"Our Special Missionary Project" was the subject of the monthly meeting of the Women Union of St. John church Thursday afternoon at the church. Mrs. Herbert Baer presented the subject. Plans were made for a cake sale Nov. 10 at Voigt's drug store. Mrs. F. Krautsch, Mrs. H. Bardenhagen, Mrs. E. Polzin and Mrs. E. Kleist will be in charge of the sale.

Mrs. C. Damsheuer will be general chairman of the annual bazaar on Dec. 4 at the church. Mrs. E. Polzin will be in charge of the fancy work and Mrs. C. Kittner will conduct the apron sale. The cake and candy booth will be under the direction of Mrs. Harold Krueger and the dining room committee chairman will be Mrs. Peter Bast while Mrs. F. Schulte will be the kitchen chairman. Mrs. A. Limpert will have charge of the Christmas tree. The union accepted the invitation of the Brotherhood to attend a meeting Nov. 13 at which the Rev. Mr. Beechen of Black Creek will speak on his recent tour of Europe. Twenty-two members were present and the hostesses at the social hour were Mrs. A. Haase, Mrs. E. Hauert and Mrs. A. Hoppe.

PARTIES PRESENT REVIEW OF CONVENTIONS AT CLUB MEETING

Mrs. August Rehmer was guest of honor at a surprise party Thursday night at her home, 917 W. Elsie-st., the occasion being her birthday anniversary. The guests included August Zimmer, Mrs. A. H. Zimmer and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Radtke of this city and Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Zimmer and children of Hortonville. Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Zimmer of Greenville. Cards entertained the guests.

Miss Irene Rehbein entertained 10 girls at a costume party Wednesday evening at her home at 530 N. Bateman-st. Decorations were in orange and black. The outstanding event of the evening was the "walk of the ghost." Prizes were won by Miss Rene Getschow, Miss Dorothy Nehls, Miss Margaret Dettmann, Miss Laurette Schultz and Miss Elynor Redlin. Those present were the Misses Elynor Redlin, Rene Getschow, Margaret Dettmann, Agnes Redlin, Gertrude Dettmann, Louise Fesnike, Dorothy Nehls, Laurette Schultz of this city and Miss Lela Spaude of Seymour and Miss Emily Kussmann of Marion.

Mrs. Albert E. Rector and Mrs. Ernest E. Morse were hostesses at a 1 o'clock luncheon and bridge Thursday at Steins at Oshkosh. Prizes at bridge were won by Mrs. Eugene Wright, Mrs. Bert Fournier and Mrs. Robert Mitchell. Sixty guests, most of whom were from Appleton, were present.

Out of town guests were Mrs. Edward Arneemann of Neenah, Mrs. Edward Hutchins of Milwaukee and Mrs. Mildred Ormsby Green and Mrs. A. H. Schwenerlein, of Portage.

CHURCH SOCIETIES

The first chapter of the study book, Friends of Africa, was presented by Mrs. E. Franz at the meeting of the Women's Missionary society of First Reformed church Thursday evening at the home of Miss Eva Engel. N. Morrison-st. Miss Engel and Miss Tillie John discussed Home Missions Among the Hungarians. Seven members were present at the monthly meeting.

Three new members were received into the St. Paul Ladies Aid society Thursday afternoon at the church. Fifty-eight members were present. Plans were made for a cake sale on Nov. 17 at Voigt's drug store. The business meeting was followed by a social hour. Members of the social committee were Mrs. John Behnke, chairman, Mrs. Henry Buss, Mrs. William Bell, Mrs. Fred Butter, Mrs. Joseph Beyer, Mrs. Otto Buss, Mrs. Fred Arnold and Mrs. Gust Buehert.

Members of Order of Martha made plans for a food sale at 10 o'clock Saturday at Brandt's garage at the meeting of the Order Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Martin Fink, town of Greenville. Mrs. Herman Keating will be chairman of the sale. Arrangements also were begun for a card party sometime in November.

The choir of Trinity English Lutheran church held its monthly business and social meeting following rehearsal Thursday evening. The hostesses were Mrs. R. C. Bretting, Misses Olga Cornelius and Leona Tesch.

USE HELIUM LAMP IN HEART DIAGNOSIS

Light Can Be Lighted and Extinguished in One-millionth of Second

New Orleans—(P)—The helium-filled glow lamp, said to be capable of becoming lighted and extinguished in a millionth of a second, has been brought to the aid of physicians in the diagnosis of heart ailments.

A device utilizing two such lamps has been developed by Dr. Roy H. Turner of the Tulane University school of medicine, with satisfactory results in making photographic records of the velocity of the pulse wave, which shows the rate at which the heart pumps blood through the veins.

The instrument is so arranged that the arrival of the pulse wave at a given point causes the lighting of a lamp, the flash being focused and photographed on a time-marked film moving at a fixed speed. One advantage of the helium-filled lamp over the neon-filled variety, Dr. Turner explains, is that it gives a whitish light which can be photographed more readily than the orange glow produced by the other gas when its atoms are broken up by electrical charges.

By this method, carbon grain microphones are hooked up through amplifiers with the two lamps, which do not become lighted until the potential across their electrodes passes above 120 volts. The microphones are so mounted directly over arteries in the wrist and neck that the pulse, by varying the pressure on the carbon grain, causes fluctuations in the direct electrical currents passing through them and thereby produces the measured flashing of the lamps. A record of the comparative duration and intensity of the heart's movements is made simultaneously on the same film with leads from an arm and leg.

LEAGUE STUDIES NEWSPAPER STATUS

Report Issued by National Bureau Indicates Importance of Press

Geneva—(P)—Emphasis on the increasingly important role of the press in modern life is a feature of a report issued by the International Labor Bureau which has been making a study of the conditions of work of newspapermen and of the problems of the newspaper profession.

The prodigious development of journalism, says the report, is testified to by the great increase in the number of newspapers and periodicals, both weekly and monthly, published in various countries. Remarking that industrial methods have now penetrated all aspects of journalism, the report says that the advertising side of the profession shows amazing results. As evidence of this the fact is brought out that in 1925 the newspapers of the United States had a receipt of over 750 million dollars in advertising.

Newspapermen have encountered difficulties in this evolution of journalism, the report underlines, first because of the change in methods of control and second because of the economic upheaval caused by the war which affected all workers and in the case of intellectual workers oftentimes produced serious consequences.

The labor bureau has inaugurated an exhaustive study of these problems and thinks that some may be solved by an international agreement.

SCIENTISTS SEEK CURE FOR CITY STREET NOISE

London—(P)—British scientists and noted men in other fields have turned their attention to the elimination of the nerve-racking clamor of city streets.

The booming, clangling, clashing, whistling, trumpeting, honking, clattering, buzzing and banging which goes on in the streets night and day has become too much for them.

Londoners who visit New York declare they would not live in the American metropolis because of the din of the city. In fact, however, New Yorkers who come to London say the same thing. London probably suffers from much more noise from the streets than New York. There are several reasons for it. London's streets are narrow and winding and the motorists' view is dangerously blocked at intersections.

POLICE WILL GET REAR LIGHTS FOR PROTECTION

Muehlhausen—(P)—The police of this city have been presented with medals of carved red glass to be fastened at the rear of their belts on the principle of an automobile tail light.

A recent series of accidents to traffic policemen convinced the authorities that some means of protection ought to be provided. The pieces of glass have been christened "catawba." They are the size of half dollars and cut in diamond shapes so that they sparkle brilliantly in an automobile headlight.

"TELEHOR" SHOWN IN BERLIN

"Telehor" the new television apparatus, was recently demonstrated in Berlin, and is said to be successful. The inventor says that his instrument will be soon used to transmit moving pictures, that it will be useful for military purposes, and that research workers will utilize it in getting pictures of places where human beings cannot live. On the projection end of the apparatus a projection lamp throws the picture of the object to be transmitted into a device that divides the light waves. The playing of these light waves on sensitive cells produces electric currents which are transmitted by wire or radio to the receiving apparatus that reverses the process and produces the picture. It is not necessary first to take a picture of the object which is transmitted.

Japan to Enthrone New Emperor

Colorful scenes will be presented when Japan formally enthrones its new ruler, Emperor Hirohito (upper left), but dignified simplicity will characterize the time-hallowed rites. The actual enthronement will take place in the Shishin Den (upper right), hall wherein stands the canopied platform (lower left) on which are the richly ornate thrones of the emperor and empress. Feasting and dances, such as the ancient warrior dance (lower right) will attend the celebration. These dances take on the character of religious rites.

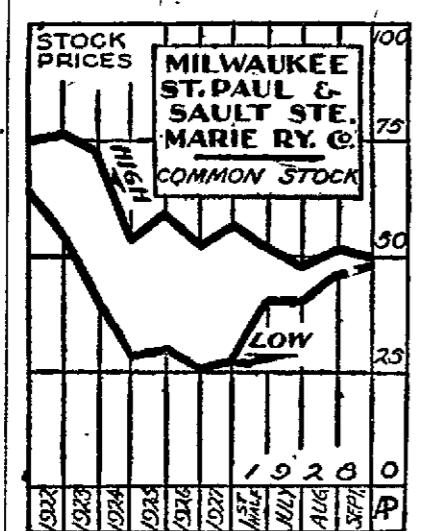

Establish Journalism School In Chinese U.

Columbia, Mo.—(P)—The world's oldest school of journalism, here at the University of Missouri, is extending a helping hand across the sea to the first Asiatic newspaper training school in Yenching University, Peking.

Dr. Walter Williams, founder and dean of the 20-year old Missouri school, is sponsoring the support. Vernon Nash, who received the bachelor of journalism degree here in 1914, heads the Chinese school. He became chairman of the journalism department in 1924, when it was started.

Back on furlough this year, Nash has organized Muszu-Yenching Hui (the Missouri-Yenching association).

HIGHER COSTS PREVENT RAIL CO. DIVIDENDS

Minneapolis—(P)—The Minneapolis St. Paul and Sault Ste. Marie Railway Co. has been handicapped in recent years by mounting operating costs and no dividends since 1921. Net income last year, however, showed marked recovery, mounting to $2,020,000, equal to $4.51 per common share, or only 96 cents per share.

The company, together with the Wisconsin Central, a subsidiary, operated 4,402 miles of road. It is controlled by the Canadian Pacific and gives that railroad entrance at Portal, N. D.; Noyes, Minn., and Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., to Chicago, Duluth, Minneapolis and St. Paul. Capitalization consists of $12,603,400 per cent non-cumulative preferred.

Products of forests and mines are the chief classes of freight, which is well diversified. Marked improvement last year reflected improved agricultural conditions in the territory served and operating revenues this year have shown further gains.

LANDSLIDES IN ISLE OF WIGHT

Windy Corner, a famous natural beauty spot near Blackgang, Isle of Wight, is slowly sliding into the sea as a sequel to a fall of more than 250,000 tons of the cliff, which two months ago swept across the main highway and partly filled the valley below, about 50 acres of land are moving down the slope. Further huge falls of cliff are occurring frequently. The entire contour of the country is changing. Valleys are being filled in and new hills are being forced up in spots. In some places the surface of the land has dropped 20 feet. The enormous pressure beneath is shown by the forming up of ledges of rock above the surface of the sea a short distance from the shore. Trees in a wood are falling and twisting amid weird sounds.

South China Finds Co-Eds

Not Conducive To Study

BY R. D. WOLCOTT

Canton—(P)—Co-education has failed in south China and the authorities are preparing to restore the ancient Chinese rule demanding strict separation of the sexes.

"Generally undesirable" is the verdict reached by the educational officials against further attempts to follow the West into such dangerous excess of freedom as co-education impresses the Chinese mind.

Although it has been decided to establish separate schools for boys and girls the decision will be enforced this fall in only the middle or high schools, the primary schools and universities being included as soon as funds are available to make possible the change.

Although the provincial educators are making strong efforts to improve educational facilities they are encountering many difficulties. Student agitations continue to interrupt the work of the schools, resulting in many cases with students being arrested for alleged "Red" tendencies and even being executed. After the Communist troubles here last December in which thousands of persons were slain it was alleged that most of the students involved were duped by clever girl Reds sent to the schools by the Communist party as students.

Increased funds is the biggest need of the schools. While the government revenues reach a high figure comparatively small part is used for education. The army and navy needs of the government receive the lion's share. About 10 per cent of the Canton city revenues goes for education.

The decision to abolish co-education has not met with favor among middle school students, the girls especially. They have petitioned the authorities to rescind the decision.

Another order of the education officials stating that all girl students who have bobbed their hair must allow it to grow long and that it must be braided in classical Chinese style is meeting with much opposition.

STATELY DANCES ARE POPULAR IN GERMANY

Kissingen—(P)—German dancing masters predict that the old-fashioned waltz will come more and more into its own during the coming season of balls and dancing parties.

Of the new dances that have found their way into Germany, it is expected that only the tango-trot will be generally accepted. The dancing masters assembled here in annual convention witnessed exhibitions of the twist, the sugar step and the quick-fox, besides the tango-trot, but decided against them. They voted also to retain the fox-trot, charleston, tango, yale blues, and the English waltz.

The charleston and the yale blues have been changed into much more stately dances than those that paraded under these names heretofore. On the whole, there will be a tendency to more conservative motions, if the dancing teachers have their way.

DON'T CLOSE SCHOOL BECAUSE OF DISEASE SAYS HEALTH BOARD

Keep Children Under Daily
Inspection by Physician
Instead Is Advice

Madison—(P)—Closing schools when disease breaks out is not favored by public health officials in Wisconsin and other states, the health education bulletin of the state health board says.

There was a time, the health department said, when the first thought on appearance of diphtheria, scarlet fever, small-pox or infantile paralysis was to close the schools to protect the children. This resulted in turning loose scores of children who congregated in large and small groups, went to the movies, played with others, and were in much more danger than when sitting in the classroom. In charge of the public health nurses or school physicians and the teachers.

Frequently under the old plan, the bulletin points out, families took the opportunity, while the children were free from school, to visit relatives and friends, often exposing themselves to unknown sources of infection.

"The approved practice today," the board states, "is to have the children in school under the daily inspection of a health officer, school nurse or teacher. Incipient cases are thus discovered and such children sent home and isolated until a diagnosis can be made and the case quarantined if necessary. Since the majority of diseases are most contagious in the early stages, it is most important to recognize the disease at the outset and isolate the child early in the disease."

"In communities with a full-time health officer and nurse it is possible to give closer attention to the health of the school children than when the health officer is giving only part of his time to this preventative program. In either case, teachers can aid the health officer in preventing the spread of a contagion by notifying him of the first signs of illness among the children under her care."

"The board," the article concludes, urges all school boards to keep schools open when contagious disease appears in their schools, and through the use of preventative measures and regular health inspections protect the health of the children in the state."

M'NARY BILL WON'T AID BADGER FARMERS

Markham Says La Follette
Led Rural Residents to Rely on Measure

Watertown—(P)—That the Mc-Nary-Haagen farm relief bill "is not designed to aid Wisconsin agriculture" and that Robert M. La Follette, Jr., his opponent, has misled Wisconsin farmers into thinking that the bill can help them were charges made by William H. Markham, state senator from Horicon, and independent Republican candidate for the United States Senate in an address here tonight.

"This state," Senator Markham said, "is composed of farmers who to the extent of 65 per cent engage in dairy farming. We have no exportable surplus of cheese or butter in America, and our dairymen would be compelled to pay an increased price for feed now required by them in addition to the Wisconsin grown supply."

"Furthermore, the western farmers under the terms of the Mc-Nary-Haagen bill, would make it possible for Canadian competitors to produce butter and cheese with the use of the exportable surplus feed which would be sold on the foreign market for what it will bring, and still make a profit from this cheap feed after paying the increased tariff on the finished products of cheese and butter."

Senator Markham declared that Sen. La Follette's actions in regard to the Mc-Nary-Haagen bill are "of a piece with his attitude on many other questions" in which he takes whatever stand he thinks will bring him the most votes from Republicans, Democrats, Socialists and others who are likely to be misled.

Speaking at Elcoit, Wednesday night, State Senator Markham cited his record on farm aid telling of his efforts that brought passage of a joint resolution in the Wisconsin legislature urging President Coolidge to make a tariff increase on cheese importations.

ASSOCIATION FOR DISABLED TO MEET

Madison—Gathering Will Discuss Needs of Crippled Children

Madison—(P)—Miss Marguerite Lison, executive secretary of the Wisconsin Association for the Disabled, has announced the annual state meeting of the organization for this city Jan. 24.

Most of the program will be devoted to problems of hospitalization for crippled children.

The annual meeting of the International Society for Crippled Children will be held in Minneapolis March 18-20, Miss Lison announced. As members of many of the state's business and civic clubs are members of and workers in the Wisconsin attendance for the convention will be large.

The annual membership campaign for the Badger group will be conducted during November, Miss Lison announced. "We have started a movement which grows in force from day to day," she said, "and there is therefore a tremendous amount of work to be accomplished during the year."

Appointment of T. J. Reinert, Antigo, as chairman of the Elks Lodge state committee for crippled children, was announced, through the

WANT ANTI-WOMAN BAR DOWN
In the dispute over the banning of women from most of the London medical schools the National Citizenship of England has just come out with a report showing that there is an increasing demand for women doctors by local authorities and in private practice. Objections to the presence of women in medical schools, the report says, suggest that women are unable to contribute to the athletic life of their school, and that there is an instinctive sex jealousy which makes men dislike to be brought into direct competition with Germany.

Germany has a craze for things English.

LAURA, LA PLANTE IN "HOME JAMES" A LAUGH RIOT

Fischers Appleton Theater presents one of the best comedies of the current season when "Home James," Laura La Plante's new starring vehicle for Universal, opens for Saturday and Sunday.

All the pretty, young girls who want to leave for the big city to study art, and there are any number of them, should know what happens to the blonde Laura. She does get to study art—but in the art section of a department store where she sells three dollar pictures for two-ninety-eight.

"Home James" is one of the blonde, dimpled star's most entertaining pictures. There are many moments in it which she displays a genius for projecting her comedy upon the screen. The pantomime scene and those in the house when she learns the identity of the man she loves are screamingly funny. The story, too, is very clever.

As Laura Elliott she gives her step-mother and step-sister the air and goes to the big city. The boss' son saves her from a master, but because he is sitting in the driver's seat of the boss' car she thinks him the chauffeur.

She falls in love with him and he with her. There are many funny incidents until the truth is disclosed to her. Laura doesn't think him any the worse for it and the boss likes Laura because she has been the first to make his son work hard. They are married on the spot.

The son is played by Charles Demarey. Aileen Manning is the step-mother and George Pearce the boss. Others in the cast, which was unusually good, are Joan Standing, Arthur Hoyt and Sidney Bracy.

Joe Shoer and his band on the stage playing for 3 presentation acts.

"ME, GANGSTER"
Patrons of the Elite Theatre are going to have a real treat in "Me, Gangster," which is the feature of the Elite's Co's story, which ran serially in the Saturday Evening Post and has been published in book form. It was directed by Raoul Walsh, Fox Film ace, along progressive lines.

Believe it or not, there is not a machine gun in the entire picture.
